

"DOUBLE INDEMNITY"

Screenplay by

Billy Wilder and Raymond Chandler

Based on the novel

"Double Indemnity In Three Of A Kind" by

James M. Cain

CHARACTERS

WALTER NEFF PHYLLIS DIETRICHSON
BARTON KEYES LOLA DIETRICHSON
MR. DIETRICHSON
NINO ZACHETTI
MR. NORTON
MR. JACKSON
SAM GORLOPIS

SEQUENCE "A"

FADE IN:

A-1 LOS ANGELES - A DOWNTOWN INTERSECTION

It is night, about two o'clock, very light traffic.

At the left and in the immediate foreground a semaphore traffic signal stands at GO. Approaching it at about thirty erratically

miles per hour is a Dodge 1938 coupe. It is driven and weaving a little, but not out of control.

changes to through.

When the car is about forty feet away, the signal STOP. Car makes no attempt to stop but comes on

A-2 A LIGHT NEWSPAPER TRUCK

swerves and nothing tires.
ANGELES
the

is crossing the intersection at right angles. It skids to avoid the Dodge, which goes on as though had happened. The truck stops with a panicky screech of
There is a large sign on the truck: "READ THE LOS TIMES". The truck driver's infuriated face stares after coupe.

A-3 THE COUPE

down office

continues along the street, still weaving, then slows and pulls over towards the curb in front of a tall building.

A-4 THE COUPE

nothing himself
the thirty-

stops. The headlights are turned off. For a second happens, then the car door opens slowly. A man eases out onto the sidewalk and stands a moment leaning on open door to support himself. He's a tall man, about five years old. From the way he moves there seems to be something wrong with his left shoulder.

into a shoulders. He

He straightens up and painfully lowers his left hand his jacket pocket. He leans into the car. He brings out light-weight overcoat and drapes it across his shuts the car door and walks toward the building.

A-5 ENTRANCE OF THE BUILDING

back.
MOVED UP knocks on

Above the closed, double-plate glass doors is lettered:
"PACIFIC BUILDING". To the left of entrance there is a drugstore, closed, dark except for a faint light in the

The man comes stiffly up to the doors. (CAMERA HAS WITH HIM). He tries the doors. They are locked. He the glass. Inside, over his shoulder, the lobby of the

on the stand elevators. One dark

building is visible: a side entrance to the drugstore left, in the rear a barber shop and cigar and magazine closed up for the night, and to the right two elevator is open and its dome light falls across the lobby.

head out with the doors, door

The man knocks again. The night watchman sticks his of the elevator and looks toward entrance. He comes out a newspaper in one hand and a half-eaten sandwich in other. He finishes the sandwich on the way to the looks out and recognizes the man outside, unlocks the and pulls it open.

NIGHT WATCHMAN

Hello there, Mr. Neff.

Neff walks in past him without answering.

A-6 INT. LOBBY

after elevator.

Neff is walking towards elevator. Night watchman looks him, relocks door, follows to elevator. Neff enters

A-7 ELEVATOR

haggard

Neff stands leaning against wall. He is pale and with pain, but deadpans as night watchman joins him.

NIGHT WATCHMAN

Working pretty late aren't you, Mr.
Neff?

NEFF

(Tight-lipped) Late enough.

NIGHT WATCHMAN

You look kind of all in at that.

NEFF

I'm fine. Let's ride.

Night watchman pulls lever, doors close and elevator rises.

NIGHT WATCHMAN

How's the insurance business, Mr. Neff?

NEFF

Okay.

NIGHT WATCHMAN

They wouldn't ever sell me any. They say I've got something loose in my heart. I say it's rheumatism.

NEFF

(Scarcely listening)
Uh-huh.

Night watchman looks around at him, turns away again and the elevator stops.

NIGHT WATCHMAN

(Surly)
Twelve.

The door opens. Across a small dark reception room a pair of frosted glass doors are lettered: PACIFIC ALL-RISK INSURANCE COMPANY - FOUNDED 1906 - MAIN OFFICE. There is a little light beyond the glass doors.

Neff straightens up and walks heavily out of the elevator, across reception room to doors. He pushes them open. The night watchman stares after him morosely, works lever, elevator doors start to close.

A-8 TWELFTH FLOOR INSURANCE OFFICE

(Note for set-designer: Our Insurance Company occupies the entire eleventh and twelfth floors of the building. On the twelfth floor are the executive offices and claims and sales

all the below:
filing departments. These all open off a balcony which runs way around. From the balcony you see the eleventh floor one enormous room filled with desks, typewriters, cabinets, business machines, etc.)

shines holds

Neff comes through the double entrance doors from the reception room. The twelfth floor is dark. Some light up from the eleventh floor. Neff takes a few steps then on to the balcony railing and looks down.

VIEW

A-9 THE ELEVENTH FLOOR FROM ABOVE - NEFF'S POINT OF mopping position, square hums a

Two colored women are cleaning the offices. One is dry-the floor, the other is moving chairs back into etc. A colored man is emptying waste baskets into a big box. He shuffles a little dance step as he moves, and little tune.

A-10 NEFF

face, towards names:
opens

Moves away from the railing with a faint smile on his and walks past two or three offices (CAMERA WITH HIM) a glass door with number twenty-seven on it and three HENRY B. ANDERSON, WALTER NEFF, LOUIS L. SCHWARTZ. Neff
the door.

A-11 INT. NEFF'S OFFICE - DARK one records with windows curtains.

Three desks, filing cabinets, one typewriter on stand, dictaphone on fixed stand against wall with rack of underneath, telephones on all three desks. Water cooler inverted bottle and paper cup holder beside it. Two facing toward front of building. Venetian blinds. No has not Waste basket full, ash trays not emptied. The office been cleaned.

dicta

Neff enters, switches on desk lamp. He looks across at phone, goes heavily to it and lifts off the fabric cover. He leans down hard on the dictaphone stand as if feeling faint.

He turns away from dictaphone, takes a few uncertain steps

and falls heavily into a swivel chair. His head goes far back, his eyes close, cold sweat shows on his face. For a moment he stays like this, exhausted, then his eyes open

slowly and look down at his left shoulder. His good hand

flips the overcoat back, he unbuttons his jacket, loosens his tie and shirt. This was quite an effort. He rests for a second, breathing hard. With the help of his good hand

he edges his left elbow up on the arm-rest of the chair, supports it there and then pulls his jacket wide. A heavy patch

of

dark blood shows on his shirt. He pushes his chair along the floor towards the water cooler, using his feet and his right

hand against the desk, takes out a handkerchief, presses

with his hand against the spring faucet of the cooler, soaks

the handkerchief in water and tucks it, dripping wet, against the wound inside his shirt. Next, he gets a handful of water and splashes it on his face. The water runs down his chin and drips. He breathes heavily, with closed eyes. He fingers

a pack of cigarettes in his shirt pocket, pulls it out, looks at it. There is blood on it. He wheels himself back to

the desk and dumps the loose cigarettes out of the packet.

Some

it cigarette.
nose.

are blood-stained, a few are clean. He takes one, puts between his lips, gropes around for a match, lights
He takes a deep drag and lets smoke out through his swivel

the button revolves on

He pulls himself toward dictaphone again, still in the chair, reaches it, lifts the horn off the bracket and dictaphone makes a low buzzing sound. He presses the switch on the horn. The sound stops, the record the cylinder. He begins to speak:

NEFF

Office memorandum, Walter Neff to Barton Keyes, Claims Manager. Los Angeles, July 16th, 1938. Dear Keyes:
I suppose you'll call this a confession when you hear it. I don't like the word confession. I just want to set you right about one thing you couldn't see, because it was smack up against your nose. You think you're such a hot potato as a claims manager, such a wolf on a phoney claim. Well, maybe you are, Keyes, but let's take a look at this Dietrichson claim, Accident and Double Indemnity. You were pretty good in there for a while, all right. You said it wasn't an accident. Check.
You said it wasn't suicide. Check.
You said it was murder. Check and double check. You thought you had it cold, all wrapped up in tissue paper, with pink ribbons around it. It was perfect, except that it wasn't, because you made a mistake, just one tiny little mistake. When it came to picking the killer, you picked the wrong guy, if you know what I mean.
Want to know who killed Dietrichson?
Hold tight to that cheap cigar of yours, Keyes. I killed Dietrichson.
Me, Walter Neff, insurance agent, 35 years old, unmarried, no visible scars --

(He glances down at his wounded shoulder)

Until a little while ago, that is.
Yes, I killed him. I killed him for money -- and a woman -- and I didn't get the money and I didn't get the woman. Pretty, isn't it?

desk.
He interrupts the dictation, lays down the horn on the
it
He takes his lighted cigarette from the ash tray, puffs again.
two or three times, and kills it. He picks up the horn

NEFF

(His voice is now quiet and contained)
It began last May. About the end of May, it was. I had to run out to Glendale to deliver a policy on some dairy trucks. On the way back I remembered this auto renewal on Los Feliz. So I decided to run over there.
It was one of those Calif. Spanish houses everyone was nuts about 10 or 15 years ago. This one must have cost somebody about 30,000 bucks -- that is, if he ever finished paying for it.

As he goes on speaking, SLOW DISSOLVE TO:

A-12 DIETRICHSON HOME - LOS FELIZ DISTRICT

in forth dawdles cream gets back He
front
Palm trees line the street, middle-class houses, mostly Spanish style. Some kids throwing a baseball back and across a couple of front lawns. An ice cream wagon along the block. Neff's coupe meets and passes the ice wagon and stops before one of the Spanish houses. Neff out. He carries a briefcase, his hat is a little on the of his head. His movements are easy and full of ginger.
inspects the house, checks the number, goes up on the porch and rings the bell.

NEFF'S VOICE

It was mid-afternoon, and it's funny, I can still remember the smell of honeysuckle all along that block. I felt like a million. There was no way in all this world I could have known that murder sometimes can smell like honeysuckle...

A-13 EXT. DIETRICHSON HOME - ENTRANCE DOOR

maid, Neff rings the bell again and waits. The door opens. A about forty-five, rather slatternly, opens the door.

NEFF

Mr. Dietrichson in?

MAID

Who wants to see him?

NEFF

The name is Neff. Walter Neff.

MAID

If you're selling something --

NEFF

Look, it's Mr. Dietrichson I'd like to talk to, and it's not magazine subscriptions.

He pushes past her into the house.

A-14 HALLWAY - DIETRICHSON HOME

A Spanish craperoo in style, as is the house throughout.
A wrought-iron staircase curves down from the second floor. A fringed Mexican shawl hangs down over the landing. A large tapestry hangs on the wall. Downstairs, the dining room to one side, living room on the other side visible through a wide archway. All of this, architecture, furniture, decorations, etc., is genuine early Leo Carrillo period.
door Neff has edged his way in past maid who still holds the open.

MAID

Listen, Mr. Dietrichson's not in.

NEFF

How soon do you expect him?

MAID

He'll be home when he gets here, if that's any help to you.

At this point a voice comes from the top of the stairs.

VOICE

What is it, Nettie? Who is it?

Neff looks up.

A-15 UPPER LANDING OF STAIRCASE - (FROM BELOW)

Phyllis Dietrichson stands looking down. She is in her early thirties. She holds a large bath-towel around her very appetizing torso, down to about two inches above her knees. She wears no stockings, no nothing. On her feet a pair of high-heeled bedroom slippers with pom-poms. On her left ankle a gold anklet.

MAID'S VOICE

It's for Mr. Dietrichson.

PHYLLIS

(Looking down at Neff)
I'm Mrs. Dietrichson. What is it?

A-16 SHOOTING DOWN FROM UPPER LANDING

Neff looks up, takes his hat off.

NEFF

How do you do, Mrs. Dietrichson. I'm Walter Neff, Pacific All-Risk.

A-17 PHYLLIS

PHYLLIS

Pacific all-what?

A-18 NEFF

NEFF

Pacific All-Risk Insurance Company. It's about some renewals on the automobiles, Mrs. Dietrichson. I've been trying to contact your husband for the past two weeks. He's never at his office.

A-19 PHYLLIS

PHYLLIS

Is there anything I can do?

A-20 NEFF

NEFF

The insurance ran out on the fifteenth. I'd hate to think of your getting a smashed fender or something while you're not fully covered.

A-21 PHYLLIS

She glances over her towel costume.

PHYLLIS

(With a little smile)

Perhaps I know what you mean, Mr. Neff. I've just been taking a sun bath.

A-22 NEFF

NEFF

No pigeons around, I hope... About those policies, Mrs. Dietrichson -- I hate to take up your time --

A-23 PHYLLIS

PHYLLIS

That's all right. If you can wait till I put something on, I'll be right down. Nettie, show Mr. Neff into the living room.

for a
She turns away as gracefully as one can with a towel wrapper.]

A-24 ENTRANCE HALL

maid
Neff watches Phyllis out of sight. He speaks to the while still looking up.

NEFF

Where would the living room be?

MAID

In there, but they keep the liquor locked up.

NEFF

That's okay. I always carry my own keys.

He goes through the archway. Maid goes off the other way.

A-25 LIVING ROOM

the looks with cabinet
Neff
one, a him; dress from the archway turns Neff comes into the room and throws his briefcase on plush davenport and tosses his hat on top of it. He around the room, then moves over to a baby grand piano a sleazy Spanish shawl dangling down one side and two photographs standing in a staggered position on top.
glances them over: Mr. Dietrichson, age about fifty-big, blocky man with glasses and a Rotarian look about Lola Dietrichson, age nineteen, wearing a filmy party and a yearning look in her pretty eyes. Neff walks away the piano and takes a few steps back and forth across rug. His eyes fall on a wrinkled corner. He carefully straightens it out with his foot. His back is to the as he hears high heels clicking on the staircase. He and looks through the arch.

NEFF'S VOICE

The living room was still stuffy from last night's cigars. The windows were closed and the sunshine coming in through the Venetian blinds showed up the dust in the air. The furniture was kind of corny and old-fashioned, but it had a comfortable look, as if people really sat in it. On the piano, in couple of fancy frames, were Mr. Dietrichson and Lola, his daughter by his first wife. They had a bowl of those little red goldfish on the table behind the davenport, but, to tell you the truth, Keyes, I wasn't a whole lot interested in goldfish right then, nor in auto renewals, nor in Mr. Dietrichson and his daughter Lola. I was thinking about that dame upstairs, and the way she had looked at me, and I wanted to see her again, close, without that silly staircase between us.

A-26 STAIRCASE (FROM NEFF'S POINT OF VIEW)

her left we dress.

Phyllis Dietrichson is coming downstairs. First we see feet, with pom-pom slippers and the gold anklet on her ankle. CAMERA PULLS BACK SLOWLY as she descends, until see all of her. She is wearing a pale blue summer

PHYLLIS' VOICE

I wasn't long, was I?

NEFF'S VOICE

Not at all, Mrs. Dietrichson.

CAMERA PULLS BACK WITH HER INTO THE LIVING ROOM.

PHYLLIS

I hope I've got my face on straight.

NEFF

It's perfect for my money.

PHYLLIS

(Crossing to the mirror over the fireplace) Won't you sit down, Mr. -- Neff is the name, isn't it?

NEFF

With two f's, like in Philadelphia.
If you know the story.

PHYLLIS

What story?

NEFF

The Philadelphia story. What are we talking about?

PHYLLIS

(She works with her lipstick)

About the insurance. My husband never tells me anything.

NEFF

It's on your two cars, the La Salle and the Plymouth.

his big clearly

He crosses to the davenport to get the policies from briefcase. She turns away from the mirror and sits in a chair with her legs drawn up sideways, the anklet now visible.

NEFF

We've been handling this insurance for three years for Mr. Dietrichson...

(His eyes have caught the anklet)

That's a honey of an anklet you're wearing, Mrs. Dietrichson.

Phyllis smiles faintly and covers the anklet with her dress.

NEFF

We'd hate to see the policies lapse.
Of course, we give him thirty days.
That's all we're allowed to give.

PHYLLIS

I guess he's been too busy down at Long Beach in the oil fields.

NEFF

Could I catch him home some evening for a few minutes?

PHYLLIS

I suppose so. But he's never home much before eight.

NEFF

That would be fine with me.

PHYLLIS

You're not connected with the Automobile Club, are you?

NEFF

No, the All-Risk, Mrs. Dietrichson. Why?

PHYLLIS

Somebody from the Automobile Club has been trying to get him. Do they have a better rate?

NEFF

If your husband's a member.

PHYLLIS

No, he isn't.

less

Phyllis rises and walks up and down, paying less and attention.

NEFF

Well, he'd have to join the club and pay a membership fee to start with. The Automobile Club is fine. I never knock the other fellow's merchandise, Mrs. Dietrichson, but I can do just as well for you. I have a very attractive policy here. It wouldn't take me two minutes to put it in front of your husband.

He consults the policies he is holding.

NEFF

For instance, we're writing a new kind of fifty percent retention feature in the collision coverage.

Phyllis stops in her walk.

PHYLLIS

You're a smart insurance man, aren't you, Mr. Neff?

NEFF

I've had eleven years of it.

PHYLLIS

Doing pretty well?

NEFF

It's a living.

PHYLLIS

You handle just automobile insurance, or all kinds?

She sits down again, in the same position as before.

NEFF

All kinds. Fire, earthquake, theft, public liability, group insurance, industrial stuff and so on right down the line.

PHYLLIS

Accident insurance?

NEFF

Accident insurance? Sure, Mrs.
Dietrichson.

His eyes fall on the anklet again.

NEFF

I wish you'd tell me what's engraved on that anklet.

PHYLLIS

Just my name.

NEFF

As for instance?

PHYLLIS

Phyllis.

NEFF

Phyllis. I think I like that.

PHYLLIS

But you're not sure?

NEFF

I'd have to drive it around the block a couple of times.

PHYLLIS

(Standing up again)
Mr. Neff, why don't you drop by tomorrow evening about eight-thirty. He'll be in then.

NEFF

Who?

PHYLLIS

My husband. You were anxious to talk to him weren't you?

NEFF

Sure, only I'm getting over it a little. If you know what I mean.

PHYLLIS

There's a speed limit in this state, Mr. Neff. Forty-five miles an hour.

NEFF

How fast was I going, officer?

PHYLLIS

I'd say about ninety.

NEFF

Suppose you get down off your motorcycle and give me a ticket.

PHYLLIS

Suppose I let you off with a warning this time.

NEFF

Suppose it doesn't take.

PHYLLIS

Suppose I have to whack you over the knuckles.

NEFF

Suppose I bust out crying and put my head on your shoulder.

PHYLLIS

Suppose you try putting it on my husband's shoulder.

NEFF

That tears it.

Neff takes his hat and briefcase.

NEFF

Eight-thirty tomorrow evening then, Mrs. Dietrichson.

PHYLLIS

That's what I suggested.

They both move toward the archway.

ENTRANCE A-27 HALLWAY - PHYLLIS AND NEFF GOING TOWARDS THE DOOR

NEFF

Will you be here, too?

PHYLLIS

I guess so. I usually am.

NEFF

Same chair, same perfume, same anklet?

PHYLLIS

(Opening the door)

I wonder if I know what you mean.

NEFF

I wonder if you wonder.

He walks out.

A-28 EXT. DIETRICHSON HOME - (DAY)

door, swinging with a confident smile.

Shooting past Neff's parked car towards the entrance which is just closing. Neff comes towards the car, his briefcase. He opens the car door and looks back

NEFF'S VOICE

(Over scene)

She liked me. I could feel that. The way you feel when the cards are...

A-29 ENTRANCE DOOR, DIETRICHSON HOME

looks
In the upper panel the peep window opens and Phyllis out after Neff.

NEFF'S VOICE

falling right for you, with a nice little pile of blue and yellow chips in the middle of the table. Only what I didn't know then was that I wasn't playing her. She was playing me -- with a deck of marked cards -- and the stakes weren't any blue and yellow chips. They were dynamite. I went back to the office that afternoon to see if I had any mail. It was the same afternoon you had that Sam Gorlopis on the carpet, that truck driver from Inglewood, remember, Keyes?

A-30 NEFF

back
He sits in his car, presses the starter button, looking towards the little window in the entrance door.

A-31 ENTRANCE DOOR

The peep window is quickly closed from inside.

A-32 STREET

Neff makes a U-turn and drives back down the block.

DISSOLVE TO:

(DAY) - A-33 LONG SHOT - INSURANCE OFFICE - TWELFTH FLOOR - CAMERA HIGH

working, forth. enters passes a Activity on the eleventh floor below. Typewriters adding machines, filing clerks, secretaries, and so Neff, wearing his hat and carrying his briefcase, from the vestibule. He walks towards his office. He

Just
stops.

few salesmen, etc. There is an exchange of greetings.
as he reaches his office a secretary comes out. She

SECRETARY

Oh, Mr. Neff, Mr. Keyes wants to see you. He's been yelling for you all afternoon.

NEFF

Is he sore, or just frothing at the mouth a little? Here, park these for me, sweetheart.

on,
He hands her his hat and briefcase and continues right CAMERA WITH HIM, to a door lettered:

BARTON KEYES - CLAIMS MANAGER

as he Keyes' voice is heard inside, plenty loud. Neff grins opens the door and goes in.

A-34 KEYES: OFFICE - (DAY)

across desk.
A minor executive office, not too tidy: large desk one corner, good carpet, several chairs, filing cabinet against one wall, a dictaphone on the corner of the

his like it.
a dirty broad on his
Neff
Keyes is sitting behind the desk with his coat off but hat on. A cigar is clamped in his mouth, ashes falling snow down his vest, a gold chair and elk's tooth across On the other side of the desk sits Sam Gorlopolis. He is big, dumb bruiser, six feet three inches tall -- a work shirt and corduroy pants, rough, untidy hair, face, small piggish eyes. He holds a sweat-soaked hat knee with a hairy hand. He is chewing gum rapidly. As opens the door, Keyes is giving it to Gorlopolis.

KEYES

Wise up, Gorlopis. You're not kidding anybody with that line of bull. You're in a jam and you know it.

GORLOPIS

Sez you. All I want is my money.

KEYES

Sez you. All you're gonna get is the cops.

He sees Neff standing inside the door.

KEYES

Come in, Walter. This is Sam Gorlopis from Inglewood.

NEFF

Sure, I know Mr. Gorlopis. Wrote a policy on his truck. How are you, Mr. Gorlopis?

GORLOPIS

I ain't so good. My truck burned down.

He looks cautiously sideways at Keyes.

KEYES

Yeah, he just planted his big foot on the starter and the whole thing blazed up in his face.

GORLOPIS

Yes, sir.

KEYES

And didn't even singe his eyebrows.

GORLOPIS

No sir. Look, mister. I got twenty-six hundred bucks tied up in that truck. I'm insured with this company and I want my money.

KEYES

You got a wife, Gorlopis?

GORLOPIS

Sure I got a wife.

KEYES

You got kids?

GORLOPIS

Two kids.

KEYES

What you got for dinner tonight?

GORLOPIS

We got meat loaf.

KEYES

How do you make your meat loaf, Gorlopis?

GORLOPIS

Veal and pork and bread and garlic.
Greek style.

KEYES

How much garlic?

GORLOPIS

Lotsa garlic, Mr. Keyes.

KEYES

Okay, Gorlopis. Now listen here.
Let's say you just came up here to tell me how to make meat loaf. That's all, understand? Because if you came up here to claim on that truck, I'd have to turn you over to the law, Gorlopis, and they'd put you in jail.
No wife. No kids --

GORLOPIS

What for?

KEYES

(Yelling)
And no meat loaf, Gorlopis!

GORLOPIS

I didn't do nothin'.

KEYES

No? Look, Gorlopis. Every month hundreds of claims come to this desk.
Some of them are phonies, and I know which ones. How do I know, Gorlopis?
(He speaks as if to a child)

Because my little man tells me.

GORLOPIS

What little man?

KEYES

The little man in here.

He pounds the pit of his stomach.

KEYES

Every time one of those phonies comes along he ties knots in my stomach. And yours was one of them, Gorlopis. That's how I knew your claim was crooked. So what did I do? I sent a tow car out to your garage this afternoon and they jacked up that burned-out truck of yours. And what did they find, Gorlopis? They found what was left of a pile of shavings.

GORLOPIS

What shavings?

KEYES

The ones you soaked with kerosene and dropped a match on.

Gorlopis cringes under the impact.

GORLOPIS

Look, Mr. Keyes, I'm just a poor guy. Maybe I made a mistake.

KEYES

That's one way of putting it.

GORLOPIS

I ain't feelin' so good, Mr. Keyes.

KEYES

Sign this and you'll feel fine.

He puts a blank form in front of him and points.

KEYES

Right there. It's a waiver on your claim.

Gorlopis hesitates, then signs laboriously.

KEYES

Now you're an honest man again.

GORLOPIS

But I ain't got no more truck.

KEYES

Goodbye, Gorlopis.

GORLOPIS

(Still bewildered)

Goodbye, Mr. Keyes.

He stands up and goes slowly to the door and turns there.

GORLOPIS

Twenty-six hundred bucks. That's a lot of dough where I live.

KEYES

What's the matter, Gorlopis? Don't you know how to open the door? Just put your hand on the knob, turn it to the right, pull it toward you --

GORLOPIS

(Doing just as Keyes says)

Like this, Mr. Keyes?

KEYES

That's the boy. Now the same thing from the outside.

GORLOPIS

(Stupefied)

Thank you, Mr. Keyes.

He goes out, closing the door after him. Keyes takes
his cigar stub from his mouth and turns it slowly in the flame of a lighted match. He turns to Neff.

KEYES

What kind of an outfit is this anyway?
Are we an insurance company, or a bunch of dimwitted amateurs, writing a policy on a mugg like that?

NEFF

Wait a minute, Keyes. I don't rate this beef. I clipped a note to that Gorlopis application to have him thoroughly investigated before we accepted the risk.

KEYES

I know you did, Walter. I'm not beefing at you. It's the company. The way they do things. The way they don't do things. The way they'll write anything just to get it down on the sales sheet. And I'm the guy that has to sit here up to my neck in phony claims so they won't throw more money out of the window than they take in at the door.

NEFF

(Grinning)

Okay, turn the record over and let's hear the other side.

KEYES

I get darn sick of picking up after a gang of fast-talking salesmen dumb enough to sell life insurance to a guy that sleeps in the same bed with four rattlesnakes. I've had twenty-six years of that, Walter, and I --

NEFF

And you loved every minute of it, Keyes. You love it, only you worry about it too much, you and your little man. You're so darn conscientious you're driving yourself crazy. You wouldn't even say today is Tuesday without you looked at the calendar, and then you would check if it was this year's or last year's calendar, and then you would find out what company printed the calendar, then find out if their calendar checks with the World Almanac's calendar.

KEYES

That's enough from you, Walter. Get out of here before I throw my desk at you.

NEFF

I love you, too.

He walks out, still grinning.

A-35 EXT. OFFICES - TWELFTH FLOOR

doors,
Neff comes out of Keys' office and walks back along the balcony. Activity of secretaries going in and out of etc. Neff enters his own office.

NEFF'S VOICE

(Over scene)

I really did, too, you old crab, always yelling your fat head off, always sore at everyone. But behind the cigar ashes on your vest I kind of knew you had a heart as big as a house... Back in my office there was a phone message from Mrs. Dietrichson about the renewals. She didn't want me to come tomorrow evening. She wanted me to come Thursday afternoon at three-thirty instead. I had a lot of stuff lined up for that Thursday afternoon, including a trip down to Santa Monica to see a couple of live prospects about some group insurance. But I kept thinking about Phyllis Dietrichson and the way that anklet of hers cut into her leg.

A-36 INT. NEFF'S OFFICE out down reads

Anderson, a salesman, sits at one of the desks, filling a report. Neff enters, goes to his own desk. He looks at some mail. On top there is a typewritten note. He it, sits down and leafs through his desk calendar.

A-37 INSERT - CLOSEUP - CALENDAR PAGE

appointments Showing date: THURSDAY 23 May and five or six penciled in tightly on the page.

DISSOLVE TO:

A-38 DIETRICHSON HOME - ENTRANCE HALL - (DAY)

ankles on the CAMERA
she visible.
hips.
coat,

THE CAMERA PANS with Phyllis Dietrichson's feet and as she comes down the stairs, her high heels clicking tiles. The anklet glistens on her leg as she moves. THE PANS ON. Phyllis has reached the entrance hall, and as walks toward the front door her whole body becomes She wears a gay print dress with a wide sash over her She opens the door. Outside is Neff, wearing a sport flannel slacks. He takes his hat off.

PHYLLIS

Hello, Mr. Neff.

He stands there with a little smile.

PHYLLIS

Aren't you coming in?

NEFF

I'm considering it.

He comes in.

PHYLLIS

I hope you didn't mind my changing the appointment. Last night wasn't so convenient.

NEFF

That's okay. I was working on my stamp collection.

She leads him toward living room.

A-39 DIETRICHSON LIVING ROOM

a
with Phyllis and Neff come through archway. She heads toward low tea table which stands in front of the davenport, tall glasses, ice cubes, lemon, a pot of tea, etc.

PHYLLIS

I was just fixing some iced tea.
Would you like a glass?

NEFF

Unless you have a bottle of beer that's not working.

PHYLLIS

There might be some. I never know what's in the ice box.

(Calls)

Nettie!...

She pours herself a glass of tea.

PHYLLIS

About those renewals, Mr. Neff. I talked to my husband about it.

NEFF

You did?

PHYLLIS

Yes. He'll renew with you he told me. In fact, I thought he'd be here this afternoon.

NEFF

But he's not?

PHYLLIS

No.

NEFF

That's terrible.

PHYLLIS

(Calls again, impatiently)

Nettie!... Nettie!... Oh, I forgot, it's the maid's day off.

NEFF

Don't bother, Mrs. Dietrichson. I'd like some iced tea very much.

PHYLLIS

Lemon? Sugar?

NEFF

Fix it your way.

She fixes him a glass of tea while he is looking around. He slowly sits down.

NEFF

Seeing it's the maid's day off maybe there's something I can do for you.

She hands him the tea.

NEFF

Like running the vacuum cleaner.

PHYLLIS

Fresh.

NEFF

I used to peddle vacuum cleaners. Not much money but you learn a lot about life.

PHYLLIS

I didn't think you'd learned it from a correspondence course.

NEFF

Where did you pick up this tea drinking? You're not English, are you?

PHYLLIS

No. Californian. Born right here in Los Angeles.

NEFF

They say native Californians all come from Iowa.

PHYLLIS

I wanted to ask you something, Mr. Neff.

NEFF

Make it Walter.

PHYLLIS

Walter.

NEFF

Right.

PHYLLIS

Tell me, Walter, on this insurance -- how much commission do you make?

NEFF

Twenty percent. Why?

PHYLLIS

I thought maybe I could throw a little more business your way.

NEFF

I can always use it.

PHYLLIS

I was thinking about my husband. I worry a lot about him, down in those oil fields. It's very dangerous.

NEFF

Not for an executive, is it?

PHYLLIS

He doesn't just sit behind a desk. He's right down there with the drilling crews. It's got me worried sick.

NEFF

You mean a crown block might fall on him some rainy night?

PHYLLIS

Please don't talk like that.

NEFF

But that's the idea.

PHYLLIS

The other day a casing line snapped and caught the foreman. He's in the hospital with a broken back.

NEFF

Bad.

PHYLLIS

It's got me jittery just thinking about it. Suppose something like that happened to my husband?

NEFF

It could.

PHYLLIS

Don't you think he ought to have accident insurance?

NEFF

Uh huh.

PHYLLIS

What kind of insurance could he have?

NEFF

Enough to cover doctors' and hospital bills. Say a hundred and twenty-five a week cash benefit. And he'd rate around fifty thousand capital sum.

PHYLLIS

Capital sum? What's that?

NEFF

That's if he got killed. Maybe I shouldn't have said that.

PHYLLIS

I suppose you have to think of everything in your business.

NEFF

Mr. Dietrichson would understand. I'm sure I could sell him on the idea of some accident protection. Why don't I talk to him about it.

PHYLLIS

You could try. But he's pretty tough going.

NEFF

They're all tough at first.

PHYLLIS

He's got a lot on his mind. He doesn't want to listen to anything except maybe a baseball game on the radio. Sometimes we sit all evening without saying a word to each other.

NEFF

Sounds pretty dull.

Phyllis shrugs.

PHYLLIS

So I just sit and knit.

NEFF

Is that what you married him for?

PHYLLIS

Maybe I like the way his thumbs hold up the wool.

NEFF

Anytime his thumbs get tired --

PHYLLIS

I want to ask you something, Mr. Neff. Could I get an accident policy for him -- without bothering him at all?

NEFF

How's that again.

PHYLLIS

That would make it easier for you, too. You wouldn't even have to talk to him. I have a little allowance of my own. I could pay for it and he needn't know anything about it.

NEFF

Wait a minute. Why shouldn't he know?

PHYLLIS

Because I know he doesn't want accident insurance. He's superstitious about it.

NEFF

A lot of people are. Funny, isn't it?

PHYLLIS

If there was a way to get it like that, all the worry would be over. You see what I mean, Walter?

NEFF

Sure. I've got good eyesight. You want him to have the policy without him knowing it. And that means without the insurance company knowing that he doesn't know. That's the set-up, isn't it?

PHYLLIS

Is there anything wrong with it?

NEFF

I think it's lovely. And then, some dark wet night, if that crown block fell on him --

PHYLLIS

What crown block?

NEFF

Only sometimes they have to have a little help. They can't quite make it on their own.

PHYLLIS

I don't know what you're talking about.

NEFF

Of course, it doesn't have to be a crown block. It can be a car backing over him, or he can fall out of an upstairs window. Any little thing like that, as long as it's a morgue job.

PHYLLIS

Are you crazy?

NEFF

Not that crazy. Goodbye, Mrs. Dietrichson.

He picks up his hat.

PHYLLIS

What's the matter?

NEFF

Look, baby, you can't get away with it.

PHYLLIS

Get away with what?

NEFF

You want to knock him off, don't you, baby.

PHYLLIS

That's a horrible thing to say!

NEFF

Who'd you think I was, anyway? A guy that walks into a good-looking dame's front parlor and says "Good afternoon, I sell accident insurance on husbands. You got one that's been around too long? Somebody you'd like to turn into a little hard cash? Just give me a smile and I'll help you collect." Boy, what a dope I must look to you!

PHYLLIS

I think you're rotten.

NEFF

I think you're swell. So long as I'm not your husband.

PHYLLIS

Get out of here.

NEFF

You bet I will. You bet I'll get out of here, baby. But quick.

He goes out. She looks after him.

A-40 EXT. DIETRICHSON HOME - (DAY)

car and Neff bangs the front door shut, walks quickly to his drives away.

DISSOLVE TO:

NEFF'S VOICE

(Over scene)

So I let her have it, straight between the eyes. She didn't fool me for a minute, not this time. I knew I had hold of a redhot poker and the time to drop it was before it burned my hand off. I stopped at a drive-in for a bottle of beer, the one I had wanted all along, only I wanted it worse now, to get rid of the sour taste of her iced tea, and everything that went with it. I didn't want to go back to the office, so I dropped by a bowling alley at Third and Western and rolled a few lines to get my mind thinking about something else for a while.

A-41 DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT - (DAY)

The bottle of Shooting past Neff sitting behind the wheel of his car car hop hangs a tray on the door and serves him a beer.

DISSOLVE TO:

A-42 INT. BOWLING ALLEY

Neff bowling. He rolls the ball with an effort at concentration, but his mind is not really on the game.

DISSOLVE TO:

A-43 EXT. APARTMENT HOUSE - (DUSK)

LOS Normandie-PANS as a
It is late afternoon. The apartment house is called the OLIVOS APARTMENTS. It is a six-story building in the Wilshire district, with a basement garage. THE CAMERA
UP the front of the building to the top floor windows, little rain starts to fall.

DISSOLVE TO:

NEFF'S VOICE

(Continuing)

I didn't feel like eating dinner when I left, and I didn't feel like a show, so I drove home, put the car away and went up to my apartment.

A-44 INT. NEFF'S APARTMENT - LIVING ROOM - (DUSK)

kitchen,
It is a double apartment of conventional design, with furniture. stands by Raindrops paces pulls throws

dinette, and bathroom, squarecut overstuffed borax Gas logs are lit in the imitation fireplace. Neff the window with his coat off and his tie loose.
strike against the glass. He turns away impatiently, up and down past a caddy bag with golf clubs in it,
one out at random, makes a couple of short swings,
the club on the couch, paces again.

NEFF'S VOICE

(Continuing)

It had begun to rain outside and I watched it get dark and didn't even turn on the light. That didn't help me either. I was all twisted up inside, and I was still holding on to that red-hot poker. And right then it came over me that I hadn't walked out on anything at all, that the hook was too strong, that this wasn't the end between her and me.
It was only the beginning.

The doorbell rings.

NEFF'S VOICE

(Continuing)

So at eight o'clock the bell would ring and I would know who it was without even having to think, as if it was the most natural thing in the world.

Neff goes to the door and opens it.

PHYLLIS

Hello.

Neff just looks at her.

PHYLLIS

You forgot your hat this afternoon.

She has nothing in her hands but her bag.

NEFF

Did I?

He looks down at her hands.

PHYLLIS

Don't you want me to bring it in?

NEFF

Sure. Put it on the chair.

She comes in. He closes the door.

NEFF

How did you know where I live?

PHYLLIS

It's in the phone book.

Neff switches on the standing lamp.

PHYLLIS

It's raining.

NEFF

So it is. Peel off your coat and sit down.

She starts to take off her coat.

NEFF

Your husband out?

PHYLLIS

Long Beach. They're spudding in a new well. He phoned he'd be late. About nine-thirty.

He takes her coat and lays it across the back of a chair.

PHYLLIS

It's about time you said you're glad to see me.

NEFF

I knew you wouldn't leave it like that.

PHYLLIS

Like what?

NEFF

Like it was this afternoon.

PHYLLIS

I must have said something that gave you a terribly wrong impression. You must surely see that. You must never think anything like that about me, Walter.

NEFF

Okay.

PHYLLIS

It's not okay. Not if you don't believe me.

NEFF

What do you want me to do?

PHYLLIS

I want you to be nice to me. Like the first time you came to the house.

NEFF

It can't be like the first time. Something has happened.

PHYLLIS

I know it has. It's happened to us.

NEFF

That's what I mean.

Phyllis has moved over to the window. She stares out through the wet window-pane.

NEFF

What's the matter now?

PHYLLIS

I feel as if he was watching me. Not that he cares about me. Not any more. But he keeps me on a leash. So tight I can't breathe. I'm scared.

NEFF

What of? He's in Long Beach, isn't he?

PHYLLIS

I oughtn't to have come.

NEFF

Maybe you oughtn't.

PHYLLIS

You want me to go?

NEFF

If you want to.

PHYLLIS

Right now?

NEFF

Sure. Right now.

him
After a
By this time, he has hold of her wrist. He draws her to slowly and kisses her. Her arms tighten around him.
moment he pulls his head back, still holding her close.

NEFF

How were you going to do it?

PHYLLIS

Do what?

NEFF

Kill him.

PHYLLIS

Walter, for the last time --

again.
She tries to jerk away but he holds her and kisses her

NEFF

I'm crazy about you, baby.

PHYLLIS

I'm crazy about you, Walter.

NEFF

That perfume on your hair. What's the name of it?

PHYLLIS

Something French. I bought it down at Ensenada.

NEFF

We ought to have some of that pink wine to go with it. The kind that bubbles. But all I have is bourbon.

PHYLLIS

Bourbon is fine, Walter.

He lets her go and moves toward the dinette.

A-45 THE DINETTE AND KITCHEN

and-usual etc. It
him.

It contains a small table and some chairs. A low glass-china cabinet is built between the dinette and kitchen, leaving a space like a doorway. The kitchen is the apartment house kitchen, with stove, ice-box, sink, is quite small.

Neff goes to the ice-box and Phyllis drifts in after

NEFF

Soda?

PHYLLIS

Plain water, please.

NEFF

Get a couple of glasses, will you.

ice hot-

He points at the china closet. He has taken a tray of cubes from the refrigerator and is holding it under the water faucet.

NEFF

You know, about six months ago a guy slipped on the soap in his bathtub and knocked himself cold and drowned. Only he had accident insurance. So they had an autopsy and she didn't get away with it.

dumps

Phyllis has the glasses now. She hands them to him. He dumps some ice cubes into the glasses.

PHYLLIS

Who didn't?

NEFF

His wife.

He reaches for the whiskey bottle on top of the china closet.

NEFF

And there was another case where a guy was found shot and his wife said he was cleaning a gun and his stomach got in the way. All she collected was a three-to-ten stretch in Tehachapi.

PHYLLIS

Perhaps it was worth it to her.

Neff hands her a glass.

NEFF

See if you can carry this as far as the living room.

They move back toward the living room.

A-46 LIVING ROOM

Phyllis and Neff go toward the davenport. She is sipping her drink and looking around.

PHYLLIS

It's nice here, Walter. Who takes care of it for you?

NEFF

A colored woman comes in twice a week.

PHYLLIS

You get your own breakfast?

NEFF

Once in a while I squeeze a grapefruit. The rest I get at the corner drugstore.

They sit on the davenport, fairly close together.

PHYLLIS

It sounds wonderful. Just strangers beside you. You don't know them. You don't hate them. You don't have to sit across the table and smile at him and that daughter of his every morning of your life.

NEFF

What daughter? Oh, that little girl on the piano.

PHYLLIS

Yes. Lola. She lives with us. He thinks a lot more of her than he does of me.

NEFF

Ever think of a divorce?

PHYLLIS

He wouldn't give me a divorce.

NEFF

I suppose because it would cost him money.

PHYLLIS

He hasn't got any money. Not since he went into the oil business.

NEFF

But he had when you married him?

PHYLLIS

Yes, he had. And I wanted a home. Why not? But that wasn't the only reason. I was his wife's nurse. She was sick for a long time. When she died, he was all broken up. I pitied him so.

NEFF

And now you hate him.

PHYLLIS

Yes, Walter. He's so mean to me. Every-time I buy a dress or a pair of shoes he yells his head off. He won't let me go anywhere. He keeps me shut up. He's always been mean to me. Even his life insurance all goes to that daughter of his. That Lola.

NEFF

Nothing for you at all, huh?

PHYLLIS

No. And nothing is just what I'm worth to him.

NEFF

So you lie awake in the dark and listen to him snore and get ideas.

PHYLLIS

Walter, I don't want to kill him. I never did. Not even when he gets drunk and slaps my face.

NEFF

Only sometimes you wish he was dead.

PHYLLIS

Perhaps I do.

NEFF

And you wish it was an accident, and you had that policy. For fifty thousand dollars. Is that it?

PHYLLIS

Perhaps that too.

She takes a long drink.

PHYLLIS

The other night we drove home from a party. He was drunk again. When we got into the garage he just sat there with his head on the steering wheel and the motor still running. And I thought what it would be like if I didn't switch it off, just closed the garage door and left him there.

NEFF

I'll tell you what it would be like, if you had that accident policy, and tried to pull a monoxide job. We have a guy in our office named Keyes. For him a set-up like that would be just like a slice of rare roast beef. In three minutes he'd know it wasn't an accident. In ten minutes you'd be sitting under the hot lights. In half an hour you'd be signing your name to a confession.

PHYLLIS

But Walter, I didn't do it. I'm not going to do it.

NEFF

Not if there's an insurance company in the picture, baby. So long as you're honest they'll pay you with a smile, but you just try to pull something like that and you'll find out. They know more tricks than a carload of monkeys. And if there's a death mixed up in it, you haven't got a prayer. They'll hang you as sure as ten dimes will buy a dollar, baby.

kisses She begins to cry. He puts his arms around her and her.

NEFF

Just stop thinking about it, will you.

THE He holds her tight. Their heads touch, side by side, CAMERA SLOWLY STARTS TO RECEDE as we

DISSOLVE TO:

A-47 INT. NEFF'S OFFICE - (NIGHT)

dictaphone. Neff sits in the swivel chair, talking into the more He has hooked the wastebasket under his feet to sit and comfortably. As he talks, a little cough shakes him now then.

NEFF

So we just sat there, and she kept on crying softly, like the rain on the window, and we didn't say anything. Maybe she had stopped thinking about it, but I hadn't. I couldn't. Because it all tied up with something I had been thinking about for years, since long before I ever ran into Phyllis Dietrichson. Because, in this business you can't sleep for trying to figure out the tricks they could pull on you. You're like the guy behind the roulette wheel, watching the customers to make sure they don't crook the house. And then one night, you get to thinking how you could crook the house yourself. And do it smart. Because you've got that wheel right under your hands. And you know every notch in it by heart. And you figure all you need is a plant out in front, a shill to put down the bet. And suddenly the doorbell rings and the whole set-up is right there in the room with you... Look, Keyes, I'm not trying to whitewash myself. I fought it, only maybe I didn't fight it hard enough. The stakes were fifty thousand dollars, but they were the life of a man, too, a man who'd never done me any dirt. Except he was married to a woman he didn't care anything about, and I did...

DISSOLVE TO:

A-48 INT. NEFF'S APARTMENT LIVING ROOM

CAMERA MOVES SLOWLY towards the davenport again. Neff sits in one corner with his feet on the low table. He is smoking his cigarette and staring at the ceiling. Phyllis has been sitting fairly close to him. She gets up slowly and crosses to her rain coat, lying over a chair.

PHYLLIS

I've got to go now, Walter.

Neff does not answer. He keeps on staring at the ceiling.

She starts to put the rain coat on.

PHYLLIS

Will you call me, Walter?

Neff still does not answer.

PHYLLIS

Walter!

He looks at her slowly, almost absently.

PHYLLIS

I hate him. I loathe going back to him. You believe me, don't you, Walter?

NEFF

Sure I believe you.

PHYLLIS

I can't stand it anymore. What if they did hang me?

NEFF

You're not going to hang, baby.

PHYLLIS

It's better than going on this way.

NEFF

-- you're not going to hang, baby. Not ever. Because you're going to do it the smart way. Because I'm going to help you.

PHYLLIS

You!

NEFF

Me.

PHYLLIS

Do you know what you're saying?

NEFF

Sure I know what I'm saying.

He gets up and grips her arm.

NEFF

We're going to do it together. We're going to do it right. And I'm the guy that knows how.

dig

There is fierce determination in his voice. His fingers into her arm.

PHYLLIS

Walter, you're hurting me.

NEFF

There isn't going to be any slip up.
Nothing sloppy. Nothing weak. It's got to be perfect.

He kisses her.

NEFF

You go now.

He leads her towards the door.

NEFF

Call me tomorrow. But not from your house. From a booth. And watch your step. Every single minute. It's got to be perfect, understand. Straight down the line.

stands

They have now reached the door. Neff opens it. Phyllis in the doorway, her lips white.

PHYLLIS

Straight down the line.

Slowly

moves looking of a against his going a

She goes quietly. He watches her down the corridor.
he closes the door and goes back into the room. He across the window and opens it wide. He stands there, down into the dark street. From below comes the sound car starting and driving off. The rain drifts in face. He just stands there motionless. His mind is hundred miles a minute.

FADE

OUT:

END OF SEQUENCE "A"

SEQUENCE "B"

FADE IN:

B-1 INT. NEFF'S OFFICE - (NIGHT)

On the desk next to him stands a used record. The cylinder on the dictaphone is not turning. He is smoking a cigarette. He kills it then lifts the needle and slides off the record which is on the machine and stands it on end on the desk beside the other used record. He reaches down painfully to take another record from the rack beneath the dictaphone, looks at it against the light to make sure it has not been used, then slides it into place on the machine and resets the needle. He lifts the horn and resumes his dictation.

NEFF

The first thing we had to do was fix him up with that accident policy. I knew he wouldn't buy, but all I wanted was his signature on an application. So I had to make him sign without his knowing what he was signing. And I wanted a witness other than Phyllis to hear me give him a sales talk. I was trying to think with your brains, Keyes. I wanted all the answers ready for all the questions you were going to spring as soon as Dietrichson was dead.

Neff takes a last drag on his cigarette and kills it by dropping the stub on the floor and resumes.

NEFF

A couple of nights later I went to the house. Everything looked fine, except I didn't like the witness Phyllis had brought in. It was Dietrichson's daughter Lola, and it made me feel a little queer in the belly to have her right there in the room, playing Chinese checkers, as if nothing was going to happen.

DISSOLVE:

B-2 A BOARD OF CHINESE CHECKERS CAMERA WITHDRAWS AND GRADUALLY REVEALS THE DIETRICHSON LIVING ROOM - NIGHT

The checker-board is on the davenport between Phyllis and Lola. Mr. Dietrichson sits in a big easy chair. His coat and tie are over the back of the chair, and the evening paper is lying tumbled on the floor beside him. He is smoking a cigar with the band on it. He has a drink in front of him and several more inside him. In another chair sits Neff, his briefcase on the floor, leaning against his chair. He holds his rate book partly open, with a finger in it for a marker. He is going full swing.

NEFF

I suppose you realize, Mr. Dietrichson, that, not being an employee, you are not covered by the State Compensation Insurance Act. The only way you can protect yourself is by having a personal policy of your own.

DIETRICHSON

I know all about that. The next thing you'll tell me I need earthquake insurance and lightning insurance and hail insurance.

Phyllis looks up from the checker-board and cuts in on the dialogue. Lola listens without much interest.

PHYLLIS

(To Dietrichson)

If we bought all the insurance they can think up, we'd stay broke paying for it, wouldn't we, honey?

DIETRICHSON

What keeps us broke is you going out and buying five hats at a crack. Who needs a hat in California?

NEFF

I always say insurance is a lot like a hot water bottle. It looks kind of useless and silly hanging on the hook, but when you get that stomach ache in the middle of the night, it comes in mighty handy.

DIETRICHSON

Now you want to sell me a hot water bottle.

NEFF

Dollar for dollar, accident insurance is the cheapest coverage you can buy, Mr. Dietrichson.

DIETRICHSON

Maybe some other time, Mr. Neff. I had a tough day.

NEFF

Just as you say, Mr. Dietrichson.

DIETRICHSON

Suppose we just settle that automobile insurance tonight.

NEFF

Sure. All we need on that is for you to sign an application for renewal.

back she Phyllis throws a quick glance at Neff. As she looks sees that Lola is staring down at her wrist watch.

LOLA

Phyllis, do you mind if we don't finish this game? It bores me stiff.

PHYLLIS

Got some thing better to do?

LOLA

Yes, I have.

She gets up.

LOLA

(To Dietrichson)

Father, is it all right if I run along now?

DIETRICHSON

Run along where? Who with?

LOLA

Just Anne. We're going roller skating.

DIETRICHSON

Anne who?

LOLA

Anne Matthews.

PHYLLIS

It's not that Nino Zchetti again?

DIETRICHSON

It better not be that Zchetti guy.
If I ever catch you with that ---

LOLA

It's Anne Matthews, I told you. I also told you we're going roller skating. I'm meeting her at the corner of Vermont and Franklin -- the northwest corner, in case you're interested. And I'm late already. I hope that is all clear. Good night, Father. Good night, Phyllis.

She starts to go.

NEFF

Good night, Miss Dietrichson.

LOLA

Oh, I'm sorry. Good night, Mr. --

NEFF

Neff.

LOLA

Good night, Mr. Neff.

PHYLLIS

Now you're not going to take my car again.

LOLA

No thanks. I'd rather be dead.

She goes out through the archway.

DIETRICHSON

A great little fighter for her weight.

Dietrichson sucks down a big swallow of his drink.

puts

Neff has taken two blank forms from his briefcase. He forms on the briefcase on Mr. Dietrichson's lap and lays the top. Phyllis is watching closely.

NEFF

This is where you sign, Mr. Dietrichson.

DIETRICHSON

Sign what?

NEFF

The applications for your auto renewals. So you'll be protected until the new policies are issued.

DIETRICHSON

When will that be?

NEFF

In about a week.

DIETRICHSON

Just so I'm covered when I drive up North.

Neff takes out his fountain pen.

NEFF

San Francisco, Mr. Dietrichson?

DIETRICHSON

Palo Alto.

PHYLLIS

He was a Stanford man, Mr. Neff. And he still goes to his class reunion every year.

DIETRICHSON

What's wrong with that? Can't I have a little fun even once a year?

NEFF

Great football school, Stanford. Did you play football, Mr. Dietrichson?

DIETRICHSON

Left guard. Almost made the varsity, too.

Neff has unscrewed his fountain pen. He hands it to Mr. Dietrichson. Dietrichson puts on his glasses.

NEFF

On that bottom line, Mr. Dietrichson.

split

Dietrichson signs. Neff's and Phyllis' eyes meet for a second.

NEFF

Both copies, please.

He withdraws the top copy barely enough to expose the signature line on the supposed duplicate.

DIETRICHSON

Sign twice, huh?

NEFF

One is the agent's copy. I need it for my files.

DIETRICHSON

(In a mutter)

Files. Duplicates. Triplicates.

Phyllis

Dietrichson grunts and signs again. Again Neff and exchange a quick glance.

NEFF

No hurry about the check, Mr. Dietrichson. I can pick it up at your office some morning.

applications

Casually Neff lifts the briefcase and signed off Dietrichson's lap.

DIETRICHSON

How much you taking me for?

NEFF

One forty-seven fifty, Mr.
Dietrichson.

little Dietrichson stands up. He is about Neff's height but a heavier.

PHYLLIS

I guess that's enough insurance for one evening, Mr. Neff.

DIETRICHSON

Plenty.

He coat and Dietrichson has poured some more whisky into his glass.
tries the siphon but it is empty. He gathers up his tie and picks up his glass.

DIETRICHSON

Good night, Mr. Neff.

Neff is zipping up his briefcase.

NEFF

Good night, Mr. Dietrichson. Good night, Mrs. Dietrichson.

DIETRICHSON

Bring me some soda when you come up,
Phyllis.

Dietrichson trundles off towards the archway.

PHYLLIS

(To Neff)

I think you left your hat in the hall.

briefcase
Phyllis leads the way and Neff goes after her, his under his arm.

B-3 HALLWAY DIETRICHSON RESIDENCE - (NIGHT)

Neff
he to and voices.

Phyllis enters through the living room archway with behind her. She leads him towards the door. On the way picks up his hat. In the BACKGROUND Dietrichson begins ascend the stairs, carrying his coat and glass. Phyllis Neff move close to the door. They speak in very low

PHYLLIS

All right, Walter?

NEFF

Fine.

PHYLLIS

He signed it, didn't he?

NEFF

Sure he signed it. You saw him.

stairs,
off

Phyllis opens the door a crack. Both look at the where Dietrichson is going up. Phyllis takes her hand the doorknob and holds on to Neff's arm.

NEFF

(Looking up)

Watch it, will you.

up as

Phyllis slowly drops her hand from his arm. Both look Dietrichson goes across the balcony and out of sight.

NEFF

Listen. That trip to Palo Alto When does he go?

PHYLLIS

End of the month.

NEFF

He drives, huh?

PHYLLIS

He always drives.

NEFF

Not this time. You're going to make him take the train.

PHYLLIS

Why?

NEFF

Because it's all worked out for a train.

they For a second they stand listening and looking up as if had heard a sound.

PHYLLIS

It's all right. Go on, Walter.

NEFF

Look, baby. There's a clause in every accident policy, a little something called double indemnity. The insurance companies put it in as a sort of come-on for the customers. It means they pay double on certain accidents. The kind that almost never happen. Like for instance if a guy got killed on a train, they'd pay a hundred thousand instead of fifty.

PHYLLIS

I see.

(Her eyes widen with excitement)

NEFF

We're hitting it for the limit, baby. That's why it's got to be a train.

PHYLLIS

It's going to be a train, Walter. Just the way you say. Straight down the line.

Neff They look at each other. The look is like a long kiss. head goes out. Slowly Phyllis closes the door and leans her against it as she looks up the empty stairway.

B-4 EXT. DIETRICHSON RESIDENCE - (NIGHT) the Neff, briefcase under his arm, comes down the steps to opens

street, where his Dodge coupe is parked at the curb. He the door and stops, looking in.

the

Sitting there in the dark corner of the car, away from steering wheel, is Lola. She wears a coat but no hat.

LOLA

Hello, Mr. Neff. It's me.

Lola gives him a sly smile. Neff is a little annoyed.

NEFF

Something the matter?

LOLA

I've been waiting for you.

NEFF

For me? What for?

LOLA

I thought you could let me ride with you, if you're going my way.

Neff doesn't like the idea very much.

NEFF

Which way would that be?

LOLA

Down the hill. Down Vermont.

NEFF

(Remembering)

Oh, sure. Vermont and Franklin. Northwest corner, wasn't it? Be glad to, Miss Dietrichson.

Neff gets into the car.

B-5 INT. COUPE - (NIGHT) - (TRANSPARENCY)

driver's

Neff puts the briefcase on the ledge behind the

down seat. He closes the door and starts the car. They drift the hill.

NEFF

Roller skating, eh? You like roller skating?

LOLA

I can take it or leave it.

Neff looks at her curiously. Lola meets his glance.

NEFF

Only tonight you're leaving it?

This is an embarrassing moment for Lola.

LOLA

Yes, I am. You see, Mr. Neff, I'm having a very tough time at home. My father doesn't understand me and Phyllis hates me.

NEFF

That does sound tough, all right.

LOLA

That's why I have to lie sometimes.

NEFF

You mean it's not Vermont and Franklin.

LOLA

It's Vermont and Franklin all right. Only it's not Anne Matthews. It's Nino Zchetti. You won't tell on me, will you?

NEFF

I'd have to think it over.

LOLA

Nino's not what my father says at all. He just had bad luck. He was doing pre-med at U.S.C. and working nights as an usher in a theater downtown. He got behind in his credits and flunked out. Then he lost his job for talking back. He's so hot-headed.

NEFF

That comes expensive, doesn't it?

LOLA

I guess my father thinks nobody's good enough for his daughter except maybe the guy that owns Standard Oil. Would you like a stick of gum?

NEFF

Never use it, thanks.

Lola puts a stick of gum in her mouth.

LOLA

I can't give Nino up. I wish father could see it my way.

NEFF

It'll straighten out all right, Miss Dietrichson.

LOLA

I suppose it will sometime.

(Looking out)

This is the corner right here, Mr. Neff.

Neff brings the car to a stop by the curb.

LOLA

There he is. By the bus stop.

Neff looks out.

B-6 CORNER VERMONT AND FRANKLIN - (NIGHT)

is well

Zachetti stands waiting, hands in trouser pockets. He about twenty-five, Italian looking, open shirt, not dressed.

B-7 INT. COUPE - (NIGHT) - LOLA AND NEFF

LOLA

He needs a hair-cut, doesn't he. Look at him. No job, no car, no money, no prospects, no nothing.

(Pause)

I love him.

She leans over and honks on the horn.

LOLA

(Calling)

Nino!

B-8 ZACHETTI

He turns around and looks towards the car.

LOLA'S VOICE

Over here, Nino.

Zachetti walks towards the car.

B-9 THE COUPE

up.
Neff and Lola. She has opened the door. Zachetti comes

LOLA

This is Mr. Neff, Nino.

NEFF

Hello, Nino.

ZACHETTI

(Belligerent from the first word)
The name is Zachetti.

LOLA

Nino. Please. Mr. Neff gave me a ride from the house. I told him all about us.

ZACHETTI

Why does he have to get told about us?

LOLA

We don't have to worry about Mr.
Neff, Nino.

ZACHETTI

I'm not doing any worrying. Just don't you broadcast so much.

LOLA

What's the matter with you, Nino?
He's a friend.

ZACHETTI

I don't have any friends. And if I did, I like to pick them myself.

NEFF

Look, sonny, she needed the ride and I brought her along. Is that anything to get tough about?

ZACHETTI

All right, Lola, make up your mind. Are you coming or aren't you?

LOLA

Of course I'm coming. Don't mind him, Mr. Neff.

Lola steps out of the car.

LOLA

Thanks a lot. You've been very sweet.

Lola catches up with Zachetti and they walk away together.

B-10 INT. COUPE

Neff looks after them. Slowly he puts the car in gear and drives on. His face is tight. Behind his head, light catches the metal of the zipper on the briefcase. Over the shot comes the COMMENTARY:

NEFF'S VOICE

She was a nice kid and maybe he was a little better than he sounded. I kind of hoped so for her sake, but right then it gave me a nasty feeling to be thinking about them at all, with that briefcase right behind my head and her father's application in it. Besides, I had other problems to work out. There were plans to make, and Phyllis had to be in on them...

DISSOLVE TO:

B-11 EXT. SUPER MARKET - (DAY)

There is a fair amount of activity but the place is not crowded. Neff comes along the sidewalk into the shot. He passes in front of the fruit and vegetable display and goes between the stalls into the market.

NEFF'S VOICE

(Continued)

...but we couldn't be seen together any more and I had told her never to call me from her house and never to call me at my office. So we had picked out a big market on Los Feliz. She was to be there buying stuff every day about eleven o'clock, and I could run into her there. Kind of accidentally on purpose.

B-12 INT. MARKET

casually
Neff stops by the cashier's desk and buys a pack of cigarettes. As he is opening the pack he looks back beyond the turnstile into the rear part of the market.

B-13 ROWS OF HIGH SHELVES IN MARKET

and them, filled.
The shelves are loaded with canned goods and other merchandise. Customers move around selecting articles putting them in their baskets. Phyllis is seen among standing by the soap section. Her basket is partly She wears a simple house dress, no hat, and has a large envelope pocketbook under her arm.

B-14 INT. MARKET

through
Neff has spotted Phyllis. Without haste he passes the turnstile towards the back.

B-15 THE SHELVES

basket. towards customer now
they Phyllis is putting a can of cleaning powder into her basket. Neff enters the shot and moves along the shelves her, very slowly, pretending to inspect the goods. A customer passes and goes on out of scene. Phyllis and Neff are very close. During the ensuing low-spoken dialogue, they continue to face the shelves, not looking at each other

PHYLLIS

Walter.

NEFF

Not so loud.

PHYLLIS

I wanted to talk to you, Walter.
Ever since yesterday.

NEFF

Let me talk first. It's all set. The accident policy came through. I've got it in my pocket. I got his check too. I saw him down in the oil fields. He thought he was paying for the auto insurance. The check's just made out to the company. It could be for anything. But you have to send a check for the auto insurance, see. It's all right that way, because one of the cars is yours.

PHYLLIS

But listen, Walter ---

NEFF

Quick, open your bag.

quickly,
her

She hesitates, then opens it. Neff looks around slips the policy out of his pocket and drops it into bag. She snaps the bag shut.

NEFF

Can you get into his safe deposit box?

PHYLLIS

Yes. We both have keys.

NEFF

Fine. But don't put the policy in there yet. I'll tell you when. And listen, you never touched it or even saw it, understand?

PHYLLIS

I'm not a fool.

NEFF

Okay. When is he taking the train?

PHYLLIS

Walter, that's just it. He isn't going.

NEFF

What?

PHYLLIS

That's what I've been trying to tell you. The trip is off.

NEFF

What's happened?

child in beside
Phyllis

He breaks off as a short, squatty woman, pushing a a walker, comes into sight and approaches. She stops Neff, who is pretending to read a label on a can.
puts a few cakes of soap into her basket.

WOMAN

(To Neff)

Mister, could you reach me that can of coffee?

(She points)

That one up there.

NEFF

(Reaching up)

This one?

and

She nods. Neff reaches a can down from the high shelf hands it to her.

WOMAN

I don't see why they always have to put what I want on the top shelf.

the
to

She moves away with her coffee and her child. Out of corner of his eye Neff watches her go. He moves closer Phyllis again.

NEFF

Go ahead. I'm listening.

PHYLLIS

He had a fall down at the well. He broke his leg. It's in a cast.

NEFF

That knocks it on the head all right.

PHYLLIS

What do we do, Walter?

NEFF

Nothing. Just wait.

PHYLLIS

Wait for what?

NEFF

Until he can take a train. I told you it's got to be a train.

PHYLLIS

We can't wait. I can't go on like this.

NEFF

We're not going to grab a hammer and do it quick, just to get it over with.

PHYLLIS

There are other ways.

NEFF

Only we're not going to do it other ways.

PHYLLIS

But we can't leave it like this. What do you think would happen if he found out about this accident policy?

NEFF

Plenty. But not as bad as sitting in that death-house.

PHYLLIS

Don't ever talk like that, Walter.

NEFF

Just don't let's start losing our heads.

PHYLLIS

It's not our heads. It's our nerve we're losing.

NEFF

We're going to do it right. That's all I said.

PHYLLIS

Walter maybe it's my nerves. It's the waiting that gets me.

NEFF

It's getting me just as bad, baby. But we've got to wait.

PHYLLIS

Maybe we have, Walter. Only it's so tough without you. It's like a wall between us.

Neff looks at his watch.

NEFF

Good-bye baby. I'm thinking of you every minute.

He goes off. She stares after him.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-16 NEFF'S OFFICE - (DAY)

is few rate this is

He is wearing a light grey suit and has his hat on. He standing behind his desk opening some mail, taking a papers out of his briefcase, checking something in his book, making a quick telephone call. But nothing of heard.

NEFF'S VOICE

After that a full week went by and I didn't see her once. I tried to keep my mind off her and off the whole idea. I kept telling myself that maybe those fates they say watch over you had gotten together and broken his leg to give me a way out.

Then it was the fifteenth of June.
You may remember that date, Keyes. I do too, only for a very different reason. You came into my office around three in the afternoon...

Keyes enters with some papers in his hand.

NEFF

Hello, Keyes.

KEYES

I just came from Norton's office.
The semi-annual sales records are out. You're high man, Walter. That's twice in a row. Congratulations.

NEFF

Thanks. How would you like a cheap drink?

KEYES

How would you like a fifty dollar cut in salary?

NEFF

How would I -- Do I laugh now, or wait until it gets funny?

KEYES

I'm serious, Walter. I've been talking to Norton. There's too much stuff piling up on my desk. Too much pressure on my nerves. I spend half the night walking up and down in my bed. I've got to have an assistant.
I thought that you --

NEFF

Me? Why pick on me?

KEYES

Because I've got a crazy idea you might be good at the job.

NEFF

That's crazy all right. I'm a salesman.

KEYES

Yeah. A peddler, a glad-hander, a

KEYES

Who? Okay, hold the line.

Neff:

He puts the phone down on the desk and continues to

KEYES

And you want to tell me you're not interested. You don't want to work with your brains. All you want to work with is your finger on a doorbell. For a few bucks more a week. There's a dame on your phone.

Neff picks the phone up and answers.

NEFF

Walter Neff speaking.

B-17 INT. PHONE BOOTH - MARKET

Phyllis is on the phone.

PHYLLIS

I had to call you, Walter. It's terribly urgent. Are you with somebody?

B-18 NEFF'S OFFICE

walking up

Neff on the phone. His eye catches Keyes', who is and down.

NEFF

Of course I am. Can't I call you back... Margie?

B-19 PHYLLIS - ON PHONE

PHYLLIS

Walter, I've only got a minute. It can't wait. Listen. He's going tonight. On the train. Are you listening, Walter? Walter!

B-20 NEFF - ON PHONE

calmly as

His eyes are on Keyes. He speaks into the phone as possible.

NEFF

I'm listening. Only make it short...
Margie.

B-21 PHYLLIS - ON PHONE

PHYLLIS

He's on crutches. The doctor says he can go if he's careful. The change will do him good. It's wonderful, Walter. Just the way you wanted it.
Only with the crutches it's ever so much better, isn't it?

B-22 NEFF'S OFFICE

Neff on phone.

NEFF

One hundred percent better. Hold the line a minute.

Keyes, who

He covers the receiver with his hand and turns to is now standing at the window.

NEFF

Suppose I join you in your office, Keyes --

Keyes

He makes a gesture as if expecting Keyes to leave.
stays right where he is.

KEYES

I'll wait. Only tell Margie not to take all day.

then

Neff looks at Keyes' back with a strained expression, lifts the phone again.

NEFF

Go ahead.

B-23 PHYLLIS, ON PHONE

PHYLLIS

It's the ten-fifteen from Glendale.
I'm driving him. Is it still that same dark street?

B-24 NEFF, ON PHONE

He is still watching Keyes cautiously.

NEFF

Yeah -- sure.

B-24A CLOSEUP - PHYLLIS - ON PHONE

PHYLLIS

The signal is three honks on the horn. Is there anything else?

B-24B CLOSEUP NEFF, ON PHONE

NEFF

What color did you pick out?

B-25 PHYLLIS, ON PHONE

PHYLLIS

Color?

(She catches on)

Oh, sure. The blue suit, Walter.

Navy blue. And the cast on his left leg.

B-26 NEFF, ON PHONE

NEFF

Navy blue. I like that fine.

B-27 PHYLLIS, ON PHONE

PHYLLIS

This is it, Walter. I'm shaking like a leaf. But it's straight down the line now for both of us. I love you, Walter. Goodbye.

B-28 NEFF'S OFFICE

Neff on the phone.

NEFF

So long, Margie.

He hangs up. His mouth is grim, but he forces a smile

as Keyes turns.

NEFF

I'm sorry, Keyes.

KEYES

What's the matter? The dames chasing you again? Or still? Or is it none of my business?

NEFF

(With a sour smile)

If I told you it was a customer --

KEYES

Margie! I bet she drinks from the bottle. Why don't you settle down and get married, Walter?

NEFF

Why don't you, for instance?

KEYES

I almost did, once. A long time ago.

Neff gets up from his desk.

NEFF

Look, Keyes, I've got a prospect to call on.

Keyes drives right ahead.

KEYES

We even had the church all picked out, the dame and I. She had a white satin dress with flounces on it. And I was on my way to the jewelry store to buy the ring. Then suddenly that little man in here started working on me.

He punches his stomach with his fist.

NEFF

So you went back and started investigating her. That it?

Keyes nods slowly, a little sad and a little ashamed.

KEYES

And the stuff that came out. She'd been dyeing her hair ever since she was sixteen. And there was a manic-depressive in her family, on her mother's side. And she already had one husband, a professional pool player in Baltimore. And as for her brother --

NEFF

I get the general idea. She was a tramp from a long line of tramps.

He picks up some papers impatiently.

KEYES

All right, I'm going. What am I to say to Norton? How about that job I want you for?

NEFF

I don't think I want it. Thanks, Keyes, just the same.

KEYES

Fair enough. Just get this: I picked you for the job, not because I think you're so darn smart, but because I thought maybe you were a shade less dumb than the rest of the outfit. I guess I was all wet. You're not smarter, Walter. You're just a little taller.

then paper else.
into desk.

He goes out. Neff is alone. He watches the door close, turns and goes slowly to the water cooler. He fills a cup and stands holding it. His thoughts are somewhere else. After a moment he absently throws the cupful of water the receptacle under the cooler. He goes back to the

it on pulls under

He takes his rate book out of his brief case and puts the desk. He buttons the top button of his shirt, and his tie right. He leaves the office, with his briefcase under his arm.

NEFF'S VOICE

That was it, Keyes, and there was no use kidding myself any more. Those fates I was talking about had only been stalling me off. Now they had thrown the switch. The gears had meshed. The machinery had started to move and nothing could stop it. The time for thinking had all run out. From here on it was a question of following the time table, move by move, just as we had it rehearsed. I wanted my time all accounted for for the rest of the afternoon and up to the last possible moment in the evening. So I arranged to call on a prospect in Pasadena about a public liability bond. When I left the office I put my rate book on the desk as if I had forgotten it. That was part of the alibi.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-29 EXT. NEFF'S APT. HOUSE DAY

garage
Neff's coupe comes down the street and swings into the and goes down the ramp into the basement.

NEFF'S VOICE

I got home about seven and drove right into the garage. This was another item to establish my alibi.

B-30 INT. GARAGE

in
and
the arm.
There are about eight cars parked. A colored attendant coveralls and rubber boots is washing a car with a hose sponge. Neff's car comes into the shot and stops near attendant. Neff gets out with his briefcase under his

ATTENDANT

Hiya there, Mr. Neff.

NEFF

How about a wash job on my heap, Charlie?

ATTENDANT

How soon you want it, Mr. Neff? I got two cars ahead of you.

NEFF

Anytime you get to it, Charlie. I'm staying in tonight.

ATTENDANT

Okay, Mr. Neff. Be all shined up for you in the morning.

his Neff is crossing to the elevator. He speaks back over shoulder:

NEFF

That left front tire looks a little soft. Check it, will you?

ATTENDANT

You bet. Check 'em all round. Always do.

Neff enters the elevator.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-31 NEFF'S APT. - (DAY) starts

is Neff enters. He walks straight to the phone, dials, and speaking into the mouthpiece, but only the COMMENTARY heard.

DISSOLVE:

NEFF'S VOICE

Up in my apartment I called Lou Schwartz, one of the salesmen that shared my office. He lived in Westwood. That made it a toll call and there'd be a record of it. I told him I had forgotten my rate book and needed some dope on the public liability bond I was figuring. I asked him to call me back. This was another item in my alibi, so that later on I could prove that I had been home.

B-32 INT. NEFF'S LIVING ROOM putting on up makes

Neff comes into the living room from the bedroom, the jacket of his blue suit. THE PHONE RINGS. He picks the receiver and starts talking, unheard, as before. He notes on a pad.

DISSOLVE TO:

NEFF'S VOICE

I changed into a navy blue suit like Dietrichson was going to wear. Lou Schwartz called me back and gave me a lot of figures...

B-33 NEFF

jacket puts

He is folding a hand towel and stuffing it into his pocket. He then takes a large roll of adhesive tape and that into his pants pocket.

DISSOLVE TO:

NEFF'S VOICE

(Cont'd)

I stuffed a hand towel and a big roll of adhesive tape into my pockets, so I could fake something that looked like a cast on a broken leg... Next I fixed the telephone and the doorbell, so that the cards would fall down if the bells rang. That way I would know there had been a phone call or visitor while I was away. I left the apartment house by the fire stairs and side door. Nobody saw me. It was already getting dark.
I took the Vermont Avenue bus to Los Feliz and walked from there up to the Dietrichson house. There was that smell of honeysuckle again, only stronger, now that it was evening.

BASEBOARD)
B-34 & B-35 INSERTS OF OPEN TELEPHONE BELL BOX (ON & DOORBELL (ABOVE ENTRANCE DOOR)

clapper in Neff's hand places a small card against the bell each of these.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-36 FIRE STAIRS, APT. HOUSE (NIGHT)

suit,
CAMERA PANS with Neff going down the stairs in his blue with a hat pulled down over his eyes.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-37 EXT. DIETRICHSON HOME - (NIGHT) - LONG SHOT - NO TRAFFIC

approaches
garage
Some windows are lit. Neff comes into the shot and cautiously. He looks around and then slides open the door.

B-38 INT. GARAGE

at a in car
Neff closes the garage door. Very faint light comes in side window. He opens the rear door of the sedan, gets and closes the door after him. The dark interior of the has swallowed him up.

NEFF'S VOICE

Then I was in the garage. His car was backed in, just the way I told Phyllis to have it. It was so still I could hear the ticking of the clock on the dashboard. I kept thinking of the place we had picked out to do it, that dark street on the way to the station, and the three honks on the horn that were to be the signal...
About ten minutes later they came down.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-39 EXT. DIETRICHSON HOUSE down

dark
is

The front door has opened and Dietrichson is half-way the steps. He is walking with crutches, wearing the blue suit and a hat. The cast is on his left leg. There no shoe on his left foot. Only the white plaster shows. Phyllis comes after him, carrying his suitcase and his overcoat. She wears a camel's-hair coat and no hat. She catches up with him.

PHYLLIS

You all right, honey? I'll have the car out in a second.

CAMERA

Dietrichson just grunts. She passes him to the garage, WITH HER, and slides the door open.

B-40 INT. GARAGE

slightly just door.
smile
the shot). She

THE CAMERA IS VERY LOW INSIDE THE SEDAN, shooting upwards from Neff's hiding place. The garage door has been opened. Phyllis comes to the car, opens the rear door. She looks down, almost INTO THE CAMERA. A tight, cool smile flashes across her face. Then, very calmly, she puts suitcase and overcoat in back on the seat (out of shot). She closes the door again.

B-41 EXT. GARAGE

the car opens difficulty.

Dietrichson stands watching Phyllis as she gets into and drives out to pick him up. She stops beside him and the right-hand door. Dietrichson climbs in with difficulty. She helps him, watching him closely.

PHYLLIS

Take it easy, honey. We've got lots of time.

DIETRICHSON

Just let me do it my own way. Grab that crutch.

She takes one of the crutches from him.

DIETRICHSON

They ought to make these things so they fold up.

For a moment, as he leans his hand on the back of the seat, there is danger that he may see Neff. He doesn't. He slides awkwardly into the seat and pulls the second crutch in after him. He closes the door. The car moves off.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-42 INT. CAR

Phyllis driving and Dietrichson beside her, face TOWARDS THE CAMERA. Dietrichson has a partly smoked cigar between his teeth. They are in the middle of a conversation.

DIETRICHSON

Aw, stop squawkin' can't you, Phyllis? No man takes his wife along to a class reunion. That's what class reunions are for.

PHYLLIS

Mrs. Tucker went along with her husband last year, didn't she.

DIETRICHSON

Yeah, and what happened to her? She sat in the hotel lobby for four days straight. Never even saw the guy until we poured him back on the train.

B-43 CLOSEUP ON NEFF'S FACE LOW DOWN IN THE CORNER

BEHIND

DIETRICHSON

rug
Dietrichson

His face is partly covered by the edge of a traveling which he has pulled up over him. He looks up at and Phyllis in the front seat.

PHYLLIS' VOICE

All right, honey. Just so long as you have a good time.

DIETRICHSON'S VOICE

I won't do much dancing, I can tell you that.

SEEN BY

B-44 HEADS & SHOULDERS OF DIETRICHSON & PHYLLIS - AS NEFF

PHYLLIS

Remember what the doctor said. If you get careless you might end up with a shorter leg.

DIETRICHSON

So what? I could break the other one and match them up again.

PHYLLIS

It makes you feel pretty good to get away from me, doesn't it?

B-45 PHYLLIS & DIETRICHSON - FACING CAMERA

DIETRICHSON

It's only for four days. I'll be back Monday at the latest.

PHYLLIS

Don't forget we're having the Hobeys for dinner on Monday.

DIETRICHSON

The Hobeys? We had them last. They owe us a dinner, don't they?

PHYLLIS

Maybe they do but I've already asked them for Monday.

DIETRICHSON

Well, I don't want to feed the Hobeys.

B-46 CLOSEUP - PHYLLIS' FACE ONLY around

she
There is a look of tension in her eyes now. She glances quickly. The car has reached the dark street Neff and picked out.

DIETRICHSON'S VOICE

And I don't want to eat at their house either. The food you get there, and that rope he hands out for cigars. Call it off, can't you?

hand
Phyllis does not answer. She doesn't even breathe. Her hand goes down on the horn button. She honks three times.

DIETRICHSON'S VOICE

What are you doing that for? What the -- off and noises on

of
This is as far as his voice will ever get. It breaks dies down in a muffled groan. There are struggling and a dull sound of something breaking. Phyllis drives and never turns her head. She stares straight in front of her. Her teeth are clenched.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-47 PARKING SPACE ADJOINING GLENDALE STATION - NIGHT

no diagonally, activity redcaps
The station is visible about sixty yards away. There is parking attendant. Ten or twelve cars are parked not crowded. The train is not in yet, but there is activity around the station. Passengers and their friends, and baggage men, news vendors, etc.

and several
The Dietrichson sedan drives into the shot past CAMERA parks in the foreground at the outer end of the line,

Both other behind, he Phyllis walks closes
and Then she
the building,

spaces from the next car, facing away from the CAMERA.
front doors are open. Phyllis gets out and from the side crutches emerge, and a man (seen entirely from and apparently Dietrichson) climbs out awkwardly. While is steadying himself on the ground with the crutches, has taken out Dietrichson's suitcase and overcoat. She walks around the car and rolls up the right front window. She closes and locks the car door. She tries the right rear door and takes a last look into the dim interior of the car.
Then she and the man walk slowly away from the car to the end of the station platform and along it toward the station building, Phyllis walks several steps ahead of the man.

B-48 PHYLLIS & THE MAN - WALKING

Phyllis

CAMERA FOLLOWING THEM, a little to one side, so that is clearly seen but the man's face is not.

MAN

(In a subdued voice)
You handle the redcap and the conductor.

PHYLLIS

Don't worry.

MAN

Keep them away from me as much as you can. I don't want to be helped.

PHYLLIS

I said don't worry, Walter.

NOW

B-49 PHYLLIS & THE MAN, WALKING DOWN PLATFORM, CAMERA PRECEDING THEM

NEFF.

Only at this point is it quite clear that THE MAN IS

NEFF

You start just as soon as the train leaves. At the dairy sign you turn off the highway onto the dirt road. From there it's exactly eight-tenths of a mile to the dump beside the tracks. Remember?

PHYLLIS

I remember everything.

NEFF

You'll be there a little ahead of the train. No speeding. You don't want any cops stopping you -- with him in the back.

PHYLLIS

Walter, we've been through all that so many times.

NEFF

When you turn off the highway, cut all your lights. I'm going to be back on the observation platform. I'll drop off as close to the spot as I can. Wait for the train to pass, then blink your lights twice.

of
seen.
Phyllis nods. They go on. Over them is heard the noise the train coming into the station and its lights are

B-50 GLENDALE STATION PLATFORM

and TOWARDS
the
The train is just coming to a stop. The passengers move forward to the tracks. Phyllis, carrying the suitcase overcoat, and Neff, still a little behind her, come THE CAMERA. A redcap sees them and runs up. He takes suitcase out of Phyllis' hand.

REDCAP

ticket envelope.
San Francisco train, lady?
Phyllis takes an envelope containing Dietrichson's from the pocket of the overcoat. She reads from the

PHYLLIS

Car nine, section eleven. Just my husband going.

REDCAP

Car nine, section eleven. Yessum, this way please.

and keeps naturally

Phyllis hands the overcoat to the redcap, who leads her Neff towards car number nine. Neff still hangs back and his head down, the way a man using crutches might do.

B-51 EXT. CAR #9: B-52: B-53

The
on.
conductor
him.

The pullman conductor and porter stand at the steps. conductor is checking the tickets of passengers getting on. The redcap leads Phyllis and Neff into the SHOT. The and porter see Neff on his crutches and move to help him.

PHYLLIS

It's all right, thanks. My husband doesn't like to be helped.

laboriously steps,
the

The redcap goes up the steps into the car. Neff swings himself up onto the box and from there up on the keeping his head down. Meantime, Phyllis is holding the attention of the conductor and porter by showing them the ticket.

CONDUCTOR

Car nine, section eleven. The gentleman only. Thank you.

reached the
the

Phyllis nods and takes the ticket back. Neff has top of the steps. She goes up after him and gives him ticket. They are now close together.

PHYLLIS

Goodbye, honey. Take awful good care of yourself with that leg.

NEFF

Sure, I will. Just you take it easy going home.

PHYLLIS

I'll miss you, honey.

redcap She kisses him. There are shouts of "ALL ABOARD". The comes from inside the car.

REDCAP

Section eleven, suh.

the Phyllis takes a quarter from her bag and gives it to redcap.

PORTER

(Shouting)

All aboard!

Redcap descends. Phyllis kisses Neff again quickly.

PHYLLIS

Good luck, honey.

He and She runs down the steps. The porter picks up the box.
there the conductor get on board the train. Phyllis stands porter waving goodbye as the train starts moving, and the out of begins to close the car door. Phyllis turns and walks the shot in the direction of the parked car.

(NIGHT) - B-54 INT. PLATFORM CAR NUMBER NINE - MOVING TRAIN - DIM LIGHT

car. Neff and the Porter. The conductor is going on into the Neff is half turned away from the porter.

NEFF

Can you make up my berth right away?

PORTER

Yes, sir.

NEFF

I'm going back to the observation car for a smoke.

PORTER

This way, sir. Three cars back.

He holds the vestibule door open. Neff hobbles through.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-55 INT. PULLMAN CAR - DIM

Most of the berths are made up. As Neff hobbles along, another porter and some passengers make way for the crippled man solicitously.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-56 PLATFORM BETWEEN TWO CARS - VERY DIM

The train conductor meets Neff and opens the door for him. Neff hobbles on through.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-57 INT. PARLOR CAR - MOVING TRAIN

Four or five passengers are reading or writing. As Neff comes through on his crutches they pull in their feet to make room for him. One old lady, seeing that he is headed for the observation platform, opens the door for him. He thanks her with a nod and hobbles through.

B-58 OBSERVATION PLATFORM

Dark except for a little light coming from inside the parlor car. The train is going at about fifteen miles an hour between

the SUDDENLY A

Glendale and Burbank. Neff has come out and hobbled to railing. He stands looking back along the rails.

MAN'S VOICE speaks from behind him.

MAN'S VOICE

Can I pull a chair out for you?

smoking old, looks does to him

Neff looks around. He sees a man sitting in the corner a hand-rolled cigarette. He is about fifty-five years with white hair, and a broad-brimmed Stetson hat. He like a small town lawyer or maybe a mining man. Neff not like the man's presence there very much. He turns just enough to answer.

NEFF

No thanks, I'd rather stand.

MAN

You going far?

NEFF

Palo Alto.

MAN

My name's Jackson. I'm going all the way to Medford. Medford, Oregon. Had a broken arm myself once.

NEFF

Uh-huh.

JACKSON

That darn cast sure itches something fierce, don't it? I thought I'd go crazy with mine.

how

Neff stands silent. His mind is feverishly thinking of to get rid of Jackson.

JACKSON

Palo Alto's a nice little town. You a Stanford man?

NEFF

Used to be.

He starts patting his pockets as if looking for something.

JACKSON

I bet you left something behind. I always do.

NEFF

My cigar case. Must have left it in my overcoat back in the section.

Jackson takes out a small bag of tobacco and a packet of cigarette papers.

JACKSON

Care to roll yourself a cigarette, Mr. --?

NEFF

Dietrichson. Thanks. I really prefer cigars.

(Looking around)

Maybe the porter --

JACKSON

I could get your cigars for you. Be glad to, Mr. Dietrichson.

NEFF

That's darn nice of you. It's car nine, section eleven. If you're sure it's not too much trouble.

JACKSON

Car nine, section eleven. A pleasure.

He rises and exits into the parlor car. Neff turns slowly and watches Jackson go back through the car. Then he moves to one side of the platform and looks ahead along the track to orientate himself. He gives one last glance back into the parlor car to make sure no one is watching him. He slips the crutches from under his arms and stands on both feet. He quickly drops the crutches off the train onto the tracks, then swings his body over the rail.

B-59 EXT. MOVING OBSERVATION CAR - CAMERA FOLLOWING

lets Neff is hanging onto the railing. He looks down, then train go and drops to the right-of-way. THE CAMERA STOPS. The tracks. recedes slowly into the night. Neff has fallen on the the He picks himself up, rubs one knee and looks back along line of the tracks and off to one side.

B-60 DARK LANDSCAPE - RAILROAD TRACKS silhouette of Close beyond the edge of the right-of-way, the out. a dump shows up. Beside it looms the dark bulk of the Dietrichson sedan. The headlights blink twice and go awkwardly He starts running towards the car. He runs a little because of the improvised cast on his left foot.

B-61 NEFF

B-62 CAR IN THE DARK

the The front door opens and Phyllis steps out. She closes uneven door and looks in the direction of the tracks. The the steps of Neff running towards her are heard. She opens off the back door of the car and leans in. She pulls the rug the corpse (which is not visible) and stands looking into at the car, unable to take her eyes off what she sees, while The same time her hands mechanically begin to fold the rug. running steps grow louder and Neff comes into the SHOT breathing hard. He reaches her.

NEFF

Okay. This has to go fast. Take his hat and pick up the crutches.

the car
coolly head.

Neff points back towards the tracks. He reaches into and begins to drag out the body by the armpits. Phyllis reaches past him and takes the hat off the dead man's She turns to go.

NEFF

Hang on to that rug. I'll need it.

Phyllis moves out of the shot carrying the hat and rug.

B-63 NEFF

drags
is

He gets a stronger hold on the dead Dietrichson and him free of the car and towards the tracks. The corpse not seen.

B-64 PHYLLIS lies. distance towards

She has reached the point where one of the crutches
She picks it up and goes for the other crutch a short away. She carries both crutches, the hat and the rug Neff.

B-65 NEFF

beside takes crutches tosses

He has reached the railroad tracks. The corpse is lying the tracks, face down. Phyllis comes up to Neff. He the crutches and the hat from her. He throws the beside the corpse. He takes the hat from Phyllis and it carelessly along the track.

NEFF

Let's go. Stay behind me.

the
with the

He takes the rug from her and they move back towards car, Phyllis first, then Neff walking almost backwards, sweeping the ground over which the body was dragged rug as they go.

B-66 THE CAR

They reach it together.

NEFF

Get in. You drive.

She gets in. Neff sweeps the ground after him as he goes around the car to get in beside her. He throws the rug into the back of the car.

B-67 INT. CAR

Phyllis is behind the wheel. Neff beside her is just closing the door. He props his wrapped foot against the dashboard and begins to tear off the adhesive tape while at the same time Phyllis presses the starter button. The starter grinds, but the motor doesn't catch. She tries again. It still doesn't catch. Neff looks at her. She tries a third time. The starter barely turns over. The battery is very low.

Phyllis leans back. They stare at each other desperately. After a moment Neff bends forward slowly and turns the thumb ignition key to the OFF position. He holds his left moment. He holds his left thumb poised over the starter button. There is a breathless moment. Then he presses the starter button with swift decision. The starter grinds with nerve-wracking sluggishness. Neff twists the ignition key to ON and instantly pulls the hand-throttle wide open. With a last feeble kick of the starter, the motor catches and races. He eases the throttle down and slides back into his place. They look at each other again. The tenseness of the moment still shows in their faces.

NEFF

Let's go, baby.

reverse.
The car
Phyllis releases the hand brake and puts the car in Neff is again busy unwrapping the tape from his leg.
moves.

B-68 DARK LANDSCAPE - WITH DUMP

around
The car, with the headlights out, backs up, swings and moves off along the dirt road the way it came.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-69 INT. SEDAN - DRIVING ALONG HIGHWAY IN TRAFFIC over,

out of up.
moving Phyllis off the adhesive
his Phyllis and Neff facing towards CAMERA. Neff is bent peeling the towel and plaster off his foot, which is shot. Phyllis is calm, almost relaxed. Neff straightens They are talking to each other. Their lips are seen but what they say is not heard. They stop talking.
stares straight ahead. Neff is pulling adhesive tape wrapped towel that was on his foot. He folds the into a tight ball, rolls the towel up, puts both into pockets.

DISSOLVE TO:

NEFF'S VOICE

On the way back we went over once more what she was to do at the inquest, if they had one, and about the insurance, when that came up. I was afraid she might go to pieces a little, now that we had done it, but she was perfect. No nerves. Not a tear, not even a blink of the eyes...

B-70 DARK STREET NEAR NEFF'S APT. HOUSE

pulling

The sedan drives into the shot and stops without over to the curb.

NEFF'S VOICE

(Cont'd)

She dropped me a block from my apartment house.

The car door opens. Neff starts to get out.

PHYLLIS

Walter.

Neff turns back to her.

PHYLLIS

What's the matter, Walter. Aren't you going to kiss me?

NEFF

Sure, I'm going to kiss you.

Phyllis bends towards him and puts her arms around him.

PHYLLIS

It's straight down the line, isn't it?

Phyllis kisses him. In the kiss he is passive.

PHYLLIS

I love you, Walter.

NEFF

I love you, baby.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-71 FIRE STAIRS - (NIGHT)

Neff going up.

NEFF'S VOICE

It was two minutes past eleven as I went up the fire stairs again. Nobody saw me this time either.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-72 B-73 INSERTS

still in Telephone bell box and the door bell. The cards are position. Neff's hand takes them out.

NEFF'S VOICE

(Cont'd)

In the apartment I checked the bells. The cards hadn't moved. No calls. No visitors.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-74 LIVING ROOM - NEFF'S APT. NIGHT - ELECTRIC LIGHTS

ON

suit he Neff comes from the bedroom, wearing the light grey wore before the murder, only with out a tie. He buttons his jacket, looks around the room, and opens the corridor door.

NEFF'S VOICE

I changed the blue suit. There was one last thing to do. I wanted the garage man to see me again.

DISSOLVE TO:

B-75 BASEMENT GARAGE - (NIGHT)

attendant Fifteen or twenty cars are parked now. Charlie, the and has washed Neff's car and is now polishing the glass him. metal work. Neff comes from the elevator. Charlie sees He straightens up.

CHARLIE

You going to need it after all, Mr. Neff? I'm about through.

NEFF

It's okay, Charlie. Just walking down to the drug store for something to eat. Been working upstairs all evening. My stomach's getting sore at me.

He walks up the ramp towards the garage entrance.

TOWARDS
B-76 STREET OUTSIDE APT. HOUSE - (NIGHT) - SHOOTING GARAGE ENTRANCE

walk walks hard street. silence. He the
WITH toward the now. He make no sound.

Neff comes out at the top of the ramp and starts to down the street, not too fast. CAMERA PRECEDES HIM. He about ten or fifteen yards. At first his steps sound and distinct on the sidewalk and echo in the deserted
But slowly, as he goes on, they fade into utter walks a few feet without sound, then becomes aware of silence. He stops rigidly and looks back. CAMERA STOPS HIM. He stands like that for a moment, then turns CAMERA again. There is a look of horror on his face walks on, CAMERA AHEAD OF HIM again. Still his steps sound.

NEFF'S VOICE

That was all there was to it. Nothing had slipped, nothing had been overlooked, there was nothing to give us away. And yet, Keyes, as I was walking down the street to the drug store, suddenly it came over me that everything would go wrong. It sounds crazy, Keyes, but it's true, so help me: I couldn't hear my own footsteps. It was the walk of a dead man.

OUT:

FADE

END OF SEQUENCE "B"

SEQUENCE "C"

FADE IN:

C-1 NEFF'S OFFICE - NIGHT cylinders on chair wound slowly

fresh

Neff sits before the dictaphone. There are four end on the desk next to him. He gets up from the swivel with great effort and stands a moment unsteadily. The in his shoulder is paining him. He is very weak as he crosses to the water cooler. He takes the blood stained handkerchief from inside his shirt and soaks it with water.

The office door opens behind him. He turns, hiding the handkerchief behind his back. In the doorway stands the colored man who has been cleaning up downstairs. He is carrying his big trash box by a rope handle.

COLORED MAN

Didn't know anybody was here, Mr.
Neff. We ain't cleaned your office yet.

NEFF

Let it go tonight. I'm busy.

COLORED MAN

Whatever you say, Mr. Neff.

uneasy
his chair horn and

He closes the door slowly, staring at Neff with an expression. Neff puts the soaked handkerchief back on wounded shoulder, then walks heavily over to his swivel and lowers himself into it. He takes the dictaphone speaks into it again.

NEFF

That was the longest night I ever lived through, Keyes, and the next day was worse, when the story broke in the papers, and they were talking about it at the office, and the day after that when you started digging into it. I kept my hands in my pockets because I thought they were shaking, and I put on dark glasses so people couldn't see my eyes, and then I took them off again so people wouldn't get to wondering why I wore them. I was trying to hold myself together, but I could feel my nerves pulling me to pieces....

DISSOLVE TO:

C-2 INSURANCE OFFICE - TWELFTH FLOOR - DAY hat on office,

his
and

Neff comes through the reception room doors with his and his briefcase under his arm. He walks towards his but half way there he runs into Keyes. Keyes is wearing vest and hat, no coat. He is carrying a file of papers and smoking a cigar.

KEYES

Come on, Walter. The big boss wants to see us.

NEFF

Okay.

He turns and walks beside Keyes, CAMERA AHEAD of them

NEFF

That Dietrichson case?

KEYES

Must be.

NEFF

Anything wrong?

KEYES

The guy's dead, we had him insured and it's going to cost us money. That's always wrong.

pencil
cigar

He stops by a majolica jar full of sand and takes a pencil from his vest. He stands over the jar extinguishing his cigar carefully so as not to damage it.

NEFF

What have you got so far?

KEYES

Autopsy report. No heart failure, no apoplexy, no predisposing medical cause of any kind. He died of a broken neck.

NEFF

When is the inquest?

KEYES

They had it this morning. His wife and daughter made the identification. The train people and some passengers told how he went through to the observation car.. It was all over in forty-five minutes. Verdict, accidental death.

with Keyes puts the half-smoked cigar into his vest pocket the pencil. They move on.

NEFF

What do the police figure?

KEYES

That he got tangled up in his crutches and fell off the train. They're satisfied. It's not their dough.

letters:
They
They stop at a door lettered in embossed chromium
EDWARD S. NORTON, JR. PRESIDENT. Keyes opens the door.
go in.

C-3 INT. RECEPTION ROOM - MR. NORTON'S OFFICE enter, inside, gentlemen.

pompous
A secretary sitting behind a desk. As Keyes and Neff the door to Norton's private office is opened. From Mr. Norton is letting out three legal looking Norton is about forty-five, very well groomed, rather in manner.

NORTON

(To the men who are leaving)

I believe the legal position is now clear, gentlemen. Please stand by. I may need you later.

He sees Keyes and Neff.

NORTON

Come in, Mr. Keyes. You too, Mr. Neff.

pass
office.
Neff has put down his hat and briefcase. He and Keyes the legal looking men and follow Norton into his

C-4 INT. NORTON'S OFFICE

but flowers, behind his door sleeves.
Naturally it is the best office in the building; modern not modernistic, spacious, very well furnished; smoking stands, easy chairs, etc. Norton has gone behind his desk. Keyes has come in, and Neff after him closes the door quietly. Norton looks disapprovingly at Keyes' shirt sleeves.

NORTON

You find this an uncomfortably warm day Mr. Keyes?

Keyes takes his hat off but holds it in his hands.

KEYES

Sorry, Mr. Norton. I didn't know this was formal.

Norton smiles frostily.

NORTON

Sit down, gentlemen.
(To Keyes)
Any new developments?

Keyes and Neff sit down, Norton remains standing.

KEYES

I just talked to this Jackson long distance. Up in Medford, Oregon.

NORTON

Who's Jackson?

KEYES

The last guy that saw Dietrichson alive. They were out on the observation platform together talking. Dietrichson wanted a cigar and Jackson went to get Dietrichson's cigar case for him. When he came back to the observation platform, no Dietrichson. Jackson didn't think anything was wrong until a wire caught up with the train at Santa Barbara. They had found Dietrichson's body on the tracks near Burbank.

NORTON

Very interesting, about the cigar case.

He walks up and down behind his desk thinking hard.

NORTON

Anything else?

KEYES

Not much. Dietrichson's secretary says she didn't know anything about the policy. There is a daughter, but all she remembers is Neff talking to her father about accident insurance at their house one night.

NEFF

I couldn't sell him at first. Mrs. Dietrichson opposed it. He told me he'd think it over. Later on I went down to the oil fields and closed him. He signed the application and gave me his check.

NORTON

(Dripping with sarcasm)
A fine piece of salesmanship that was, Mr. Neff.

KEYES

There's no sense in pushing Neff around. He's got the best sales record in the office. Are your salesmen supposed to know that the customer is going to fall off a train?

NORTON

Fall off a train? Are we sure Dietrichson fell off the train?

There is a charged pause.

KEYES

I don't get it.

NORTON

You don't, Mr. Keyes? Then what do you think of this case? This policy might cost us a great deal of money.
As you know, it contains a double indemnity clause. Just what is your opinion?

KEYES

No opinion at all.

NORTON

Not even a hunch? One of those interesting little hunches of yours?

KEYES

Nope. Not even a hunch.

NORTON

I'm surprised, Mr. Keyes. I've formed a very definite opinion. I think I know -- in fact I know I know what happened to Dietrichson.

KEYES

You know you know what?

NORTON

I know it was not an accident.

He looks from Keyes to Neff and back to Keyes.

NORTON

What do you say to that?

KEYES

Me? You've got the ball. Let's see you run with it.

NORTON

There's a widespread feeling that just because a man has a large office --

The dictograph on his desk buzzes. He reaches over and depresses a key and puts the earpiece to his ear.

NORTON

(Into dictograph)

Yes?... Have her come in, please.

He replaces the earpiece. He turns back to Keyes and Neff.

NORTON

-- that just because a man has a large office he must be an idiot. I'm having a visitor, if you don't mind.

Keyes and Neff start to get up.

NORTON

No, no. I want you to stay and watch me handle this.

The secretary has opened the door.

SECRETARY

Mrs. Dietrichson.

obvious tailored carries Mr.
Neff stands staring at the door. He relaxes with an effort of will. Phyllis comes in. She wears a gray suit, small black hat with a veil, black gloves, and a black bag. The secretary closes the door behind her. Norton goes to meet her.

NORTON

Thank you very much for coming, Mrs. Dietrichson. I assure you I appreciate it.

He turns a little towards Keyes.

NORTON

This is Mr. Keyes.

KEYES

How do you do.

PHYLLIS

How do you do.

NORTON

And Mr. Neff.

PHYLLIS

I've met Mr. Neff. How do you do.

behind

Norton has placed a chair. Phyllis sits. Norton goes his desk.

NORTON

Mrs. Dietrichson, I assure you of our sympathy in your bereavement. I hesitated before asking you to come here so soon after your loss.

Phyllis nods silently.

NORTON

But now that you're here I hope you won't mind if I plunge straight into business. You know why we asked you to come, don't you?

PHYLLIS

No. All I know is that your secretary made it sound very urgent.

He

the behind completely

Keyes sits quietly in his chair with his legs crossed.
has hung his hat on his foot and thrust his thumbs in armholes of his vest. He looks a little bored. Neff, him, stands leaning against the false mantel, dead-pan.

NORTON

Your husband had an accident policy with this company. Evidently you don't know that, Mrs. Dietrichson.

PHYLLIS

No. I remember some talk at the house --

She looks towards Neff.

PHYLLIS

-- but he didn't seem to want it.

NEFF

He took it out a few days later,
Mrs. Dietrichson.

PHYLLIS

I see.

NORTON

You'll probably find the policy among his personal effects.

PHYLLIS

His safe deposit box hasn't been opened yet. It seems a tax examiner has to be present.

NORTON

Please, Mrs. Dietrichson, I don't want you to think you are being subjected to any questioning. But there are a few things we should like to know.

PHYLLIS

What sort of things?

NORTON

We have the report of the coroner's inquest. Accidental death. We are not entirely satisfied. In fact we are not satisfied at all.

Phyllis looks at him coolly.

Keyes looks vaguely interested.

Neff is staring straight at Phyllis.

NORTON

Frankly, Mrs. Dietrichson, we suspect suicide.

Phyllis doesn't bat an eyelash.

NORTON

I'm sorry. Would you like a glass of water?

PHYLLIS

Please.

NORTON

Mr. Neff.

a lifted

He indicates a thermos on a stand near Neff. Neff pours glass of water and carries it over to Phyllis. She has her veil a little. She takes the glass from his hand.

PHYLLIS

Thank you.

Their eyes meet for a fraction of a second.

NORTON

Had your husband been moody or depressed lately, Mrs. Dietrichson? Did he seem to have financial worries, for instance?

PHYLLIS

He was perfectly all right and I don't know of any financial worries.

NORTON

There must have been something, Mrs. Dietrichson. Let us examine this so-called accident. First, your husband takes out this policy in absolute secrecy. Why? Because he doesn't want his family to suspect what he intends to do.

PHYLLIS

Do what?

NORTON

Commit suicide. Next, he goes on this trip entirely alone. He has to be alone. He hobbles all the way out to the observation platform, very unlikely with his leg in a cast, unless he has a very strong reason. Once there, he finds he is not alone. There is a man there. What was his name, Keyes?

doesn't

Norton flips his fingers impatiently at Keyes who even bother to look up.

KEYES

His name was Jackson. Probably still is.

NORTON

Jackson. So your husband gets rid of this Jackson with some flimsy excuse about cigars. And then he is alone. And then he does it. He jumps. Suicide. In which case the company is not liable.

(Pause)

You know that, of course. We could go to court --

PHYLLIS

I don't know anything. In fact I don't know why I came here.

She makes as if to rise indignantly.

NORTON

Just a moment, please. I said we could go to court. I didn't say we want to. Not only is it against our practice, but it would involve a great deal of expense, a lot of lawyers, a lot of time, perhaps years.

Phyllis rises coldly.

NORTON

So what I want to suggest is a compromise on both sides. A settlement for a certain sum, a part of the policy value --

PHYLLIS

Don't bother, Mr. Norton. When I came in here I had no idea you owed me any money. You told me you did. Then you told me you didn't. Now you tell me you want to pay me a part of it, whatever it is. You want to bargain with me, at a time like this. I don't like your insinuations about my husband, Mr. Norton, and I don't like your methods. In fact I don't like you, Mr. Norton. Goodbye, gentlemen.

She turns and walks out. The door closes after her.

There is a pregnant pause. Keyes straightens up in his chair.

KEYES

Nice going, Mr. Norton. You sure carried that ball.

Norton pours himself a glass of water and stands holding it.

KEYES

Only you fumbled on the goal line. Then you heaved an illegal forward pass and got thrown for a forty-yard loss. Now you can't pick yourself up because you haven't got a leg to stand on.

NORTON

I haven't eh? Let her claim. Let her sue. We can prove it was suicide.

Keyes stands up.

KEYES

Can we? Mr. Norton, the first thing that hit me was that suicide angle. Only I dropped it in the wastepaper basket just three seconds later. You ought to take a look at the statistics on suicide sometime. You might learn a little something about the insurance business.

NORTON

I was raised in the insurance business, Mr. Keyes.

KEYES

Yeah. In the front office. Come on, you never read an actuarial table in your life. I've got ten volumes on suicide alone. Suicide by race, by color, by occupation, by sex, by seasons of the year, by time of day. Suicide, how committed: by poisons, by fire-arms, by drowning, by leaps. Suicide by poison, subdivided by types of poison, such as corrosive, irritant, systemic, gaseous, narcotic, alkaloid, protein, and so forth. Suicide by leaps, subdivided by leaps from high places, under wheels of trains, under wheels of trucks, under the feet of horses, from steamboats. But Mr. Norton, of all the cases on record there's not one single case of suicide by leap from the rear end of a moving train. And do you know how fast that train was going at the point where the body was found? Fifteen miles an hour. Now how could anybody jump off a slow moving train like that with any kind of expectation that he would kill himself? No soap, Mr. Norton. We're sunk, and we're going to pay through the nose, and you know it. May I have this?

the one big Keyes' throat is dry after the long speech. He grabs glass of water out of Norton's hand and drains it in gulp.

with down
Norton is watching him almost stupefied. Neff stands the shadow of a smile on his face. Keyes puts the glass noisily on Norton's desk.

KEYES

Come on, Walter.

doorknob down at Norton doesn't move or speak. Keyes puts his hat on and crosses towards the door, Neff after him. With the in his hand Keyes turns back to Norton with a glance his own shirt sleeves.

KEYES

Next time I'll rent a tuxedo.

They go out.

DISSOLVE TO:

C-5 NEFF - AT DICTAPHONE - (NIGHT)

horn.
There is a tired grin on his face as he talks into the

NEFF

I could have hugged you right then and there, Keyes, you and your statistics. You were the only one we were really scared of, and instead you were almost playing on our team...

DISSOLVE TO:

C-6 NEFF'S APARTMENT - EVENING - ALMOST DARK IN THE ROOM

The corridor door opens letting light in. Neff enters with his hat on and his briefcase under his arm. He switches the lights on, closes the door, puts the lights on, closes the door, puts the key in his pocket. At this moment the telephone rings. He picks up the phone.

NEFF'S VOICE

That evening when I got home my nerves had eased off. I could feel the ground under my feet again, and it looked like easy going from there on it.

NEFF

Hello... Hello, baby.... Sure, everything is fine... You were wonderful in Norton's office.

C-7 INT. TELEPHONE BOOTH IN A DRUG STORE

Phyllis is on the phone. She is not dressed as in Norton's office.

PHYLLIS

I felt so funny. I wanted to look at you all the time.

C-8 NEFF ON TELEPHONE IN HIS APARTMENT

NEFF

How do you think I felt? Where are you, baby?

C-9 PHYLLIS ON PHONE

PHYLLIS

At the drug store. Just a block away.
Can I come up?

C-10 NEFF'S APARTMENT - (NIGHT) - NEFF ON PHONE

NEFF

Okay. But be careful. Don't let anybody see you.

briefcase
to gathers floor

He hangs up, takes off his hat and drops hat and on the davenport. He looks around the room and crosses lower the venetian blinds and draw the curtains. He up the morning paper which is lying untidily on the and puts it in the waste-paper basket.

The door bell rings.

time is then

Neff stops in sudden alarm. It can't be Phyllis. The too short. For a second he stands there motionless, crosses to the door and opens it.

In the open door stands Keyes.

NEFF

Hello, Keyes.

clasped in off

Keyes walks past him into the room. His hands are behind his back. There is a strange, absent-minded look his eyes. Neff closes the door without taking his eyes Keyes.

NEFF

What's on your mind?

Keyes stops in the middle of the room and turns.

KEYES

That broken leg. The guy broke his leg.

NEFF

What are you talking about?

KEYES

Talking about Dietrichson. He had accident insurance, didn't he? Then he broke his leg, didn't he?

NEFF

So what?

KEYES

And he didn't put in a claim. Why didn't he put in a claim? Why?

NEFF

What the dickens are you driving at?

KEYES

Walter. There's something wrong. I ate dinner two hours ago. It stuck half way.

He prods his stomach with his thumb.

KEYES

The little man is acting up again. Because there's something wrong with that Dietrichson case.

NEFF

Because he didn't put in a claim? Maybe he just didn't have time.

KEYES

Oh maybe he just didn't know he was insured.

other for He has stopped in front of Neff. They look at each other for a tense moment. Neff hardly breathes. Keyes shakes his head suddenly.

KEYES

No. That couldn't be it. You delivered the policy to him personally, didn't you, Walter? And you got his check.

NEFF

(Stiff-lipped, but his voice is as well under control as he can manage) Sure, I did.

Keyes prods his stomach again.

KEYES

Got any bicarbonate of soda?

NEFF

No I haven't.

Keyes resumes his pacing.

KEYES

Listen, Walter. I've been living with this little man for twenty-six years. He's never failed me yet. There's got to be something wrong.

NEFF

Maybe Norton was right. Maybe it was suicide, Keyes.

KEYES

No. Not suicide.

(Pause)

But not accident either.

NEFF

What else?

There is another longer pause, agonizing for Neff.

Finally

Keyes continues:

KEYES

Look. A man takes out an accident policy that is worth a hundred thousand dollars if he is killed on a train. Then, two weeks later, he is killed on a train. And not in a train accident, mind you, but falling off some silly observation car. Do you know what the mathematical probability of that is, Walter? One out of I don't know how many billions. And add to that the broken leg. It just can't be the way it looks, Walter. Something has been worked on us.

NEFF

Such as what?

Finally

Keyes doesn't answer. He goes on pacing up and down.
Neff can't stand the silence any longer.

NEFF

Murder?

KEYES

(Prods stomach again)
Don't you have any peppermint or anything?

NEFF

I'm sorry.
(Pause)
Who do you suspect?

KEYES

Maybe I like to make things easy for myself. But I always tend to suspect the beneficiary.

NEFF

The wife?

KEYES

Yeah. That wide-eyed dame that didn't know anything about anything.

NEFF

You're crazy, Keyes. She wasn't even on the train.

KEYES

I know she wasn't, Walter. I don't claim to know how it was worked, or who worked it, but I know that it was worked.

He crosses to the corridor door.

KEYES

I've got to get to a drug store. It feels like a hunk of concrete inside me.

He puts his hand on the knob to open the door.

C-11 CORRIDOR - APARTMENT HOUSE - NIGHT - LIGHTS ON standing

The hallway is empty except for Phyllis who has been door

and
door.

close to the door of Neff's apartment, listening. The has just started to open. Phyllis moves away quickly flattens herself against the wall behind the opening Keyes is coming out.

KEYES

Good night, Walter.

through wide

Neff, behind him, looks anxiously down the hallway for Phyllis. Suddenly his eye catches a glimpse of her the crack of the partly opened door. He pushes the door so as to hide her from Keyes.

NEFF

Good night, Keyes.

KEYES

See you at the office in the morning.

and

He has reached the elevator. He pushes the call button turns.

KEYES

But I'd like to move in on her right now, tonight, if it wasn't for Norton and his stripe-pants ideas about company policy. I'd have the cops after her so quick her head would spin. They'd put her through the wringer, and, brother, what they would squeeze out.

NEFF

Only you haven't got a single thing to go on, Keyes.

The elevator has come up and stopped.

KEYES

Not too much. Twenty-six years experience, all the percentage there is, and this lump of concrete in my stomach.

one

He pulls back the elevator door and turns to Neff with last glance of annoyance.

KEYES

(Almost angrily)

No bicarbonate of soda.

elevator
Keyes gets into the elevator. The door closes. The goes down.

last around
out.
Neff stands numb, looking at the spot where Keyes was visible. Without moving his eyes he pulls the door towards him with his left hand. Phyllis slowly comes backwards

She crosses in front of him and enters. He steps in after her.

C-12 INT. NEFF'S APARTMENT

backing in slowly.
silence.
Phyllis has come a few steps into the room. Neff, after her, closes the door from inside and turns
They look at each other for a long moment in complete

PHYLLIS

How much does he know?

NEFF

It's not what he knows. It's those stinking hunches of his.

PHYLLIS

But he can't prove anything, can he?

NEFF

Not if we're careful. Not if we don't see each other for a while.

PHYLLIS

For how long a while?

She moves toward him but he does not respond.

NEFF

Until all this dies down. You don't know Keyes the way I do. Once he gets his teeth into something he won't let go. He'll investigate you. He'll have you shadowed. He'll watch you every minute from now on. Are you afraid, baby?

PHYLLIS

Yes, I'm afraid. But not of Keyes. I'm afraid of us. We're not the same any more. We did it so we could be together, but instead of that it's pulling us apart. Isn't it, Walter?

NEFF

What are you talking about?

PHYLLIS

And you don't really care whether we see each other or not.

NEFF

Shut up, baby.

He pulls her close and kisses her.

FADE

OUT:

END OF SEQUENCE "C"

SEQUENCE "D"

FADE IN:

D-1 INSURANCE OFFICE - TWELFTH FLOOR - ANTEROOM - (DAY)

Two telephone operators and a receptionist are at work. Several visitors are waiting in chairs. Lola Dietrichson is one of them. She's wearing a simple black suit and hat, indicating mourning. Her fingers nervously pick at a handkerchief and her eyes are watching the elevator doors anxiously. (Now and then the telephone operators in the background are heard saying, "PACIFIC ALL-RISK. GOOD AFTERNOON.") people sees

the

The elevator comes up and the doors open. Several come out, among them Neff, carrying his briefcase. Lola him and stands up, and as he is about to pass through anteroom without recognizing her she stops him.

LOLA

Hello, Mr. Neff.

Neff looks at her a little startled.

NEFF

Hello.

His voice hangs in the air.

LOLA

Lola Dietrichson. Don't you remember me?

NEFF

(On his guard)

Yes. Of course.

LOLA

Could I talk to you, just for a few minutes? Somewhere where we can be alone?

NEFF

Sure. Come on into my office.

she

He pushes the swing door open and holds it for her. As passes in front of him his eyes narrow in uneasy speculation.

D-2 TWELFTH FLOOR - BALCONY

Neff comes up level with Lola and leads her towards his office, CAMERA WITH THEM.

NEFF

Is it something to do with -- what happened?

LOLA

Yes, Mr. Neff. It's about my father's death.

NEFF

I'm terribly sorry, Miss Dietrichson.

She

He opens the door of his office and holds it for her.
enters.

D-3 INT. NEFF'S OFFICE - (DAY)

his

Lou Schwartz, one of the other salesmen, is working at desk. Lola enters, Neff after her.

NEFF

(To Schwartz)

Lou, do you mind if I use the office alone for a few minutes?

SCHWARTZ

It's all yours, Walter.

window

places

He gets up and goes out. Lola has walked over to the and is looking out so Schwartz won't stare at her. Neff a chair beside his desk.

NEFF

Won't you sit down?

with a

At the sound of the closing door she turns and speaks catch in her voice.

LOLA

Mr. Neff, I can't help it, but I have such a strange feeling that there is something queer about my father's death.

NEFF

Queer? Queer in what way?

LOLA

I don't know why I should be bothering you with my troubles, except that you knew my father and knew about the insurance he took out. And you were so nice to me that evening in your car.

NEFF

Sure. We got along fine, didn't we.

He sits down. His face is grim and watchful.

LOLA

Look at me, Mr. Neff. I'm not crazy. I'm not hysterical. I'm not even crying. But I have the awful feeling that something is wrong, and I had the same feeling once before -- when my mother died.

NEFF

When your mother died?

LOLA

We were up at Lake Arrowhead. That was six years ago. We had a cabin there. It was winter and very cold and my mother was very sick with pneumonia. She had a nurse with her. There were just the three of us in the cabin. One night I got up and went into my mother's room. She was delirious with fever. All the bed covers were on the floor and the windows were wide open. The nurse wasn't in the room. I ran and covered my mother up as quickly as I could. Just then I heard a door open behind me. The nurse stood there. She didn't say a word, but there was a look in her eyes I'll never forget. Two days later my mother was dead.

(Pause)

Do you know who that nurse was?

the Neff stares at her tensely. He knows only too well who nurse was.

NEFF

No. Who?

LOLA

Phyllis. I tried to tell my father, but I was just a kid then and he wouldn't listen to me. Six months later she married him and I kind of talked myself out of the idea that she could have done anything like that. But now it's all back again, now that something has happened to my father, too.

NEFF

You're not making sense, Miss Dietrichson. Your father fell off a train.

LOLA

Yes, and two days before he fell off that train what was Phyllis doing? She was in her room in front of a mirror, with a black hat on, and she was pinning a black veil to it, as if she couldn't wait to see how she would look in mourning.

NEFF

Look. You've had a pretty bad shock. Aren't you just imagining all this?

LOLA

I caught her eyes in the mirror, and they had that look in them they had before my mother died. That same look.

NEFF

You don't like your step-mother, do you? Isn't it just because she is your step-mother?

LOLA

I loathe her. Because she did it. She did it for the money. Only you're not going to pay her, are you, Mr. Neff? She's not going to get away with it this time. I'm going to speak up. I'm going to tell everything I know.

NEFF

You'd better be careful, saying things like that.

LOLA

I'm not afraid. You'll see.

is
She turns again to the window so he won't see that she crying. Neff gets up and goes to her.

LOLA

I'm sorry. I didn't mean to act like this.

NEFF

All this that you've been telling me -- who else have you told?

LOLA

No one.

NEFF

How about your step-mother?

LOLA

Of course not. I'm not living in the house any more. I moved out.

NEFF

And you didn't tell that boy-friend of yours? Zachetti.

LOLA

I'm not seeing him any more. We had a fight.

NEFF

Where are you living then?

LOLA

I got myself a little apartment in Hollywood.

NEFF

Four walls, and you just sit and look at them, huh?

She turns from the window with a pathetic little nod.

LOLA

(Through her tears)
Yes, Mr. Neff.

DISSOLVE TO:

D-4 LA GOLONDRINA (NIGHT)

In the foreground, Neff and Lola are having dinner. In the background the usual activity of Olvera Street -- sidewalk peddlers, guitar players, etc.

NEFF'S VOICE

So I took her to dinner that evening at a Mexican joint down on Olvera Street where nobody would see us. I wanted to cheer her up..

DISSOLVE TO:

D-5 INT. NEFF'S COUPE (DAY)

Monica. contrast story
the mind

Neff and Lola driving along the beach near Santa Monica. Neff is wearing a light summer suit, very much in contrast to Lola's mourning. Apparently she is telling him a story and now and then she laughs, but there is no sound. CAMERA MOVES PAST HER TO A: CLOSE SHOT OF NEFF behind the steering wheel. He is only half listening to Lola. His mind is full of other thoughts.

NEFF'S VOICE

Next day was Sunday and we went for a ride down to the beach. She had loosened up a bit and she was even laughing... I had to make sure she wouldn't tell that stuff about Phyllis to anybody else. It was dynamite, whether it was true or not. And I had no chance to talk to Phyllis. You were watching her like a hawk, Keyes. I couldn't even phone her for fear you had the wires tapped.

D-6 INSURANCE OFFICE - 12TH FLOOR - DAY toward stops beside from

his

Neff, with his hat on and no briefcase, is walking toward Keyes' office. As he comes up close to the door, he stops with a startled expression on his face. On a chair beside the door sits a familiar figure. He is Jackson, the man from the observation platform of the train. He is wearing something in Jackson

on

Stetson hat and smoking a cigar. He is studying the file folder. Neff recognizes him immediately but does not look up. Neff controls his expression and goes to open the door to Keyes' office.

NEFF'S VOICE

Monday morning there was a note on my desk that you wanted to see me, Keyes. For a minute I wondered if it could be about Lola. It was worse. Outside your door was the last guy in the world I wanted to see.

D-7 INT. KEYES' OFFICE

his cigar,

Neff is just closing the door from the inside. Keyes, coat off, is lying on his office couch, chewing on a cigar, as usual.

KEYES

Come in. Come in, Walter. I want to ask you something. After all the years we've known each other, do you mind if I make a rather blunt statement?

NEFF

About what?

KEYES

About me. Walter, I'm a very great man. This Dietrichson business. It's murder, and murders don't come any neater. As fancy a piece of homicide as anybody ever ran into. Smart and tricky and almost perfect, but -- Keyes bounces off the couch like a rubber ball.

KEYES

but, I think Papa has it all figured out, figured out and wrapped up in tissue paper with pink ribbons on it.

NEFF

I'm listening.

Keyes levels a finger at him.

KEYES

You know what? That guy Dietrichson was never on the train.

NEFF

He wasn't?

KEYES

No, he wasn't, Walter. Look, you can't be sure of killing a man by throwing him off a train that's going fifteen miles an hour. The only way you can be sure is to kill him first and then throw his body on the tracks. That would mean either killing him on the train, or -- and this is where it really gets fancy -- you kill him somewhere else and put him on the tracks. Two possibilities, and I personally buy the second.

NEFF

You're way ahead of me, Keyes.

KEYES

Look, it was like this. They killed the guy -- the wife and somebody else -- and then the somebody else took the crutches and went on the train as Dietrichson, and then the somebody else jumped off, and then they put the body on the tracks where the train had passed. An impersonation, see. And a cinch to work. Because it was night, very few people were about, they had the crutches to stare at, and they never really looked at the man at all.

NEFF

It's fancy all right, Keyes. Maybe it's a little too fancy.

KEYES

Is it? I tell you it fits together like a watch. And now let's see what we have in the way of proof. The only guy that really got a good look at this supposed Dietrichson is sitting right outside my office. I took the trouble to bring him down here from Oregon. Let's see what he has to say.

Keyes goes to the door and opens it.

KEYES

Come in, Mr. Jackson.

Jackson enters with the file folder.

JACKSON

Yes sir, Mr. Keyes. These are fine cigars you smoke.

He indicates the cigar he himself is smoking.

KEYES

Two for a quarter.

JACKSON

That's what I said.

KEYES

Never mind the cigar, Jackson. Did you study those photographs? What do you say?

JACKSON

Yes, indeed, I studied them thoroughly. Very thoroughly

KEYES

Well? Did you make up your mind?

JACKSON

Mr. Keyes, I'm a Medford man. Medford, Oregon. Up in Medford we take our time making up our minds --

KEYES

Well you're not in Medford now. I'm in a hurry. Let's have it.

Jackson indicates the file folder he is holding.

JACKSON

Are these photographs of the late Mr. Dietrichson?

KEYES

Yes.

JACKSON

Then my answer is no.

KEYES

What do you mean no?

JACKSON

I mean this is not the man that was on the train.

KEYES

Will you swear to that?

JACKSON

I'm a Medford man. Medford, Oregon. And if I say it, I mean it, and if I mean it, of course I'll swear it.

KEYES

Thank you.

Keyes turns to Neff.

KEYES

There you are, Walter. There's your proof.

Keyes remembers he forgot to introduce Jackson.

KEYES

Oh, Mr. Jackson, this is Mr. Neff, one of our salesmen.

JACKSON

Please to meet you, Mr. Neff. Pleased indeed.

NEFF

How do you do.

JACKSON

Very fine, thank you. Never was better.

KEYES

Mr. Jackson, how would you describe the man you saw on that observation platform?

JACKSON

Well, I'm pretty sure he was a younger man, about ten or fifteen years younger than the man in these photographs.

KEYES

Dietrichson was about fifty, wasn't he, Walter?

NEFF

Fifty-one, according to the policy.

JACKSON

The man I saw was nothing like fifty-one years old. Of course, it was pretty dark on that platform and, come to think of it, he tried to keep his back towards me. But I'm positive just the same.

KEYES

That's fine, Jackson. Now you understand this matter is strictly confidential. We may need you again down here in Los Angeles, if the case comes to court.

JACKSON

Any time you need me, I'm at your entire disposal, gentlemen. Expenses paid, of course.

Keyes picks up the telephone on his desk and speaks into it.

KEYES

Get me Lubin, in the cashier's office.

low
he
Meanwhile, Jackson crosses over to Neff and, during the ensuing dialogue between him and Neff, we hear Keyes' voice on the phone in background. We do not hear what says.

JACKSON

(To Neff)

Ever been in Medford, Mr. Neff?

NEFF

Never.

JACKSON

Wait a minute. Do you go trout fishing? Maybe I saw you up Klamath Falls way.

NEFF

Nope. Never fish.

JACKSON

Neff. Neff. I've got it! It's the name. There's a family of Neffs in Corvallis.

NEFF

No relation.

JACKSON

Let me see. This man's an automobile dealer in Corvallis. Very reputable man, too, I'm told.

Keyes rejoins them at this point.

KEYES

All right, Mr. Jackson. Suppose you go down to the cashier's office -- room twenty-seven on the eleventh floor. They'll take care of your expense account and your ticket for the train tonight.

JACKSON

Tonight? Tomorrow morning would suit me better. There's a very good osteopath down here I want to see before I leave.

Keyes has opened the door for Jackson.

KEYES

Okay, Mr. Jackson. Just don't put her on the expense account.

Jackson doesn't get it.

JACKSON

Goodbye, gentlemen. A pleasure.

He goes out.

KEYES

There it is, Walter. It's beginning to come apart at the seams already. A murder's never perfect. It always comes apart sooner or later. And when two people are involved it's usually sooner. We know the Dietrichson dame is in it, and somebody else. Pretty soon we're going to know who that somebody else is. He'll show. He's got to show. Sometime, somewhere, they've got to meet. Their emotions are all kicked up. Whether it's love or hate doesn't matter. They can't keep away from each other. They think it's twice as safe because there are two of them. But it's not twice as safe. It's ten times twice as dangerous. They've committed a murder and that's not like taking a trolley ride together where each one can get off at a different stop. They're stuck with each other. They've got to ride all the way to the end of the line. And it's a one-way trip, and the last stop is the cemetery.

pockets He puts a cigar in his mouth and starts tapping his for matches.

KEYES

(Continued)

She put in her claim and I'm going to throw it right back at her.

(Pats his pockets again)

Have you got one of those?

of Neff strikes a match for him. Keyes takes the match out his hand and lights his cigar.

KEYES

Let her sue us if she dares. I'll be ready for her -- and that somebody else. They'll be digging their own graves.

DISSOLVE TO:

D-8 TELEPHONE BOOTH IN JERRY'S MARKET - DAY

he Neff is in the booth dialing a number, and as she waits looks around to make sure he is not watched.

NEFF

(Into phone)

Mrs. Dietrichson?... This is Jerry's market. We just got in a shipment of that English soap you were asking about. Will you be coming by this morning?... Thank you, Mrs.
Dietrichson.

Neff hangs up.

DISSOLVE TO:

D-9 EXT. JERRY'S MARKET - DAY

out
The LaSalle stops in front of the market. Phyllis steps and goes into the market, looking around.

D-10 SHELVES IN THE REAR OF MARKET

but approaches.
couple of Neff is moving slowly along the shelves, outwardly calm with his nerves on edge. From beyond him Phyllis She stops beside him, facing the same way, with a feet separating them.

PHYLLIS

Hello, Walter.

NEFF

(In a harsh whisper)

Come closer.

Phyllis moves close to him.

PHYLLIS

What's the matter?

NEFF

Everything's the matter. Keyes is rejecting your claim. He's sitting back with his mouth watering, waiting for you to sue. He wants you to sue.

But you're not going to.

PHYLLIS

What's he got to stop me?

NEFF

He's got the goods. He's figured out how it was worked. He knows it was somebody else on the train. He's dug up a witness he thinks will prove it.

PHYLLIS

Prove it how? Listen, if he rejects that claim, I have to sue.

NEFF

Yeah? And then you're in court and a lot of other things are going to come up. Like, for instance, about you and the first Mrs. Dietrichson.

Phyllis looks at him sharply, sideways.

PHYLLIS

What about me and the first Mrs. Dietrichson?

NEFF

The way she died. And about that black hat you were trying on -- before you needed a black hat.

A customer comes along the aisle toward them. They move apart.

The customer passes. Phyllis draws close again.

PHYLLIS

Walter, Lola's been telling you some of her cockeyed stories. She's been seeing you.

NEFF

I've been seeing her, if you want to know. So she won't yell her head off about what she knows.

PHYLLIS

Yes, she's been putting on an act for you, crying all over your shoulder, that lying little --

NEFF

Keep her out of it. All I'm telling you is we're not going to sue.

PHYLLIS

Because you don't want the money any more, even if you could get it? Because she's made you feel like a heel all of sudden.

NEFF

It isn't the money any more. It's our necks now. We're pulling out, understand.

PHYLLIS

Because of what Keyes can do? You're not fooling me, Walter. It's because of Lola. What you did to her father. You can't take it that she might find out some day.

NEFF

I said, leave her out of it.

PHYLLIS

Walter, it's me I'm talking about. I don't want to be left out of it.

NEFF

Stop saying that. It's just that it hasn't worked out the way we wanted. We can't have the money. We can't go through with it, that's all.

PHYLLIS

We have gone through with it, Walter. The tough part is all behind us. We just have to hold on now and not go soft inside, and stick together, close, the way we started out.

pulls Phyllis takes his arm, forgetting where she is. He away.

NEFF

Watch it, will you. Someone's coming.

loaded One of the market help, pushing a small hand-truck

and Phyllis. with away
the their

with packaged goods, comes along the aisle. He stops begins to restock a shelf very close to Neff and They go off slowly in opposite directions. CAMERA PANS Neff as he walks toward another shelf, one that stands from the wall. Phyllis appears on the opposite side of shelf and stops, facing toward him. They now continue low-voiced dialogue through the piled-up merchandise.

PHYLLIS

I loved you, Walter. And I hated him. But I wasn't going to do anything about it, not until I met you. It was you had the plan. I only wanted him dead.

NEFF

Yeah, and I was the one that fixed him so he was dead. Is that what you're telling me?

and

Phyllis takes off her dark glasses for the first time looks at him with cold, hard eyes.

PHYLLIS

Yes. And nobody's pulling out. We went into it together, and we're coming out at the end together. It's straight down the line for both of us, remember.

Phyllis puts the glasses on again and goes.

Over Neff's face, as he looks after her, comes the COMMENTARY.

NEFF'S VOICE

Yeah. I remembered all right. Just as I remembered what you had told me, Keyes, about that trolley car ride and how there was no way to get off -- until the end of the line.

DISSOLVE TO:

D-11 INT. NEFF'S OFFICE - (NIGHT)

Neff is dictating into the dictaphone.

NEFF

Yeah, I remembered it all right. Just as I remembered what you had told me, Keyes, about that trolley car ride, and how there was no way to get off until the end of the line, where the cemetery was. And I got to thinking what cemeteries are for. They're to put dead people in, I guess that was the first time I ever thought about Phyllis that way. Dead, I mean, and how things would be if she was dead. Because the way it was now she had me by the throat. She could hang me higher than a kite any day she felt like it. And there was nothing I could do, except hold my breath and watch that day come closer and closer, and maybe pray a little, if I still knew how to pray... I saw Lola three or four times that week. I guess it sounds crazy, Keyes, after what I had done, but it was only with her that I could relax and let go a little. Then one night we drove up into the hills above Hollywood Bowl...

DISSOLVE TO:

D-12 HOLLYWOOD HILLS (NIGHT) (TRANSPARENCY) foreground. Neff and Lola are climbing over a low hill in the the sky is starlit and music from the Bowl comes over the scene from below (Cesar Franck D Minor Symphony). As he helps her climb up, CAMERA PANS with them and shows the expanse of the Bowl below, a packed audience, and the orchestra on the lighted shell.

They sit down on the grass. Neff sits near her, not too close.

shell
a her.
the

It is very dark and they are silhouetted against the lights. Neff puts a cigarette in his mouth and strikes match. The flame lights up Lola's face. Neff glances at She is crying. He lights his cigarette and blows out match. A pause follows.

NEFF

Why are you crying?

Lola doesn't answer.

NEFF

You won't tell me?

LOLA

(In a choked voice)

Of course I will, Walter. I wouldn't tell anybody else but you. It's about Nino.

NEFF

Zachetti? What about him?

LOLA

They killed my father together. He and Phyllis. He helped her do it. I know he did.

NEFF

What makes you say that?

LOLA

I've been following him. He's at her house, night after night. It was Phyllis and him all the time. Maybe he was going with me just for a blind. And the night of the murder --

NEFF

You promised not to talk that way any more.

LOLA

-- he was supposed to pick me up after a lecture at U.C.L.A. -- but he never showed up. He said he was sick. Sick! He couldn't show up, because the train was leaving with my father on it.

She begins to cry again.

LOLA

Maybe I'm just crazy. Maybe it's all just in my mind.

NEFF

Sure, it's all in your mind.

LOLA

I only wish it was, Walter, because I still love him.

Over Neff's face, as he listens to the music, comes the commentary.

DISSOLVE TO:

D-13 LOBBY OF PACIFIC BLDG. (DAY)

NEFF'S VOICE

Zachetti. That's funny. Phyllis and Zachetti. What was he doing up at her house? I couldn't figure that one out I tried to make sense out of it and got nowhere. But the real brain-twister came the next day. You sprang it on me, Keyes, after office hours, when you caught me down in the lobby of the building.

About 5:00 P.M. or a little later. A stream of office employees is coming out of an elevator; a second elevator reaches the lobby and some more office employees come
out, among them Neff, wearing his hat and carrying his briefcase.

CAMERA PRECEDES HIM as he walks toward the entrance doors.
He is stopped by Keyes' voice, off to one side.

KEYES' VOICE

Oh, Walter, just a minute.

Neff stops and looks towards the cigar counter, as he moves

is towards him. Keyes is standing there buying cigars. He stuffing them into his pockets.

NEFF

Hello, Keyes.

KEYES

Hang onto your hat, Walter.

NEFF

What for?

KEYES

Nothing much. The Dietrichson case just busted wide open.

NEFF

How do you mean?

KEYES

The guy showed. That's how.

NEFF

The somebody else?

KEYES

Yeah. The guy that did it with her.

NEFF

No kidding?

KEYES

She's filed suit against us, and it's okay by me. When we get into that courtroom I'll tear them apart, both of them. Come on -- I'll buy you a martini.

NEFF

No thanks, Keyes.

KEYES

With two olives.

NEFF

I've got to get a shave and a shoeshine. I've got a date.

KEYES

Margie. I still bet she drinks from the bottle.

into
as
He bites off the end of the cigar and puts the cigar his mouth. He starts tapping his pockets for a match, usual. Neff strikes a match for him.

NEFF

They give you matches when they sell you cigars, Keyes. All you have to do is ask for them.

KEYES

I don't like them. They always explode in my pockets. So long, Walter.

moves reaches the
Keyes
Keyes goes toward the street and OUT OF SCENE. Neff back into the lobby, CAMERA FOLLOWING HIM. As he elevator, he looks back over his shoulder, to make sure is gone, then steps into the empty elevator.

NEFF'S VOICE

You sure had me worried, Keyes. I didn't know if you were playing cat-and-mouse with me, whether you knew all along I was the somebody else.
That's what I had to find out, and I thought I knew where to look...

NEFF

(To elevator operator)
Twelve.

DISSOLVE TO:

D-14 ENTRANCE - OFFICE. 12TH FLOOR RECEPTION ROOM (DAY)

just preparing to Neff comes out of the elevator. The receptionist is tidying up her desk. She has her hat on and is leave. Neff passes on through the swinging doors to the twelfth floor balcony.

NEFF'S VOICE

Upstairs, the last of the people were just leaving.

D-15 12TH FLOOR BALCONY

belated Keyes'
enters.

Neff enters from the reception room. A couple of employees are leaving for the day. Neff goes toward office, looks around to make sure he is unobserved,

NEFF'S VOICE

I made sure nobody saw me go into your office.

D-16 KEYES' OFFICE (DAY)

and
the about needle
the bracket from

Neff has just come in. He goes over to Keyes' desk and searches the papers on it. He tries the desk drawers finds them locked. His eye falls on the dictaphone on stand beside the desk. A record is on it, the needle is two-thirds of the way towards the end. He lifts the and sets it back to the beginning of the record, sets switch to playback position. He lifts the arm off the and starts the machine. Keyes' voice is heard coming the horn:

KEYES' VOICE

(From Dictaphone)

Memo to Mr. Norton. Confidential. Dietrichson File. With regard to your proposal to put Walter Neff under surveillance, I disagree absolutely. I have investigated his movements on the night of the crime, and he is definitely placed in his apartment from 7:15 P.M. on. In addition to this, I have known Neff intimately for eleven years, and I personally vouch for him, without reservation...

holding presses the

Neff stops the machine. He sits down slowly, still the horn. He is deeply moved. After a moment, he switch again.

KEYES' VOICE

(From Dictaphone)

...Furthermore, no connection whatsoever has been established between Walter Neff and Mrs. Phyllis Dietrichson, whereas I am now able to report that such a connection has been established between her and another man. This man has been observed to visit the Dietrichson home on the night of July 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th. We have succeeded in identifying him as one Nino Zchetti, former medical student, aged twenty-eight, residing at Lilac Court Apartments 1228½ N. La Brea Avenue. We have checked Zchetti's movements on the night of the crime and have found that they cannot be accounted for. I am preparing a more detailed report for your consideration and it is my belief that we already have sufficient evidence against Zchetti and Mrs. Dietrichson to justify police action. I strongly urge that this whole matter be turned over to the office of the District Attorney. Respectfully, Barton Keyes.

goes on
the replace stops.
and

Neff sits, staring blankly at the wall. The cylinder revolving, but no more voice comes -- only the whir of needle on the empty record. At last he remembers to the horn. He hangs it back on its hook. The machine Neff gets up from the chair, walks slowly to the door goes out.

D-17 12TH FLOOR, BALCONY

slowly
there have
out,

Neff has just come out of Keyes' office. He walks back towards the reception room entrance, then stands looking out through the glass doors. All the employees now left. Neff is entirely alone. He moves as if to go excitement of office

then stops rigidly as his face lights up with a sudden idea. He turns quickly and walks on to his own and enters.

D-18 NEFF'S OFFICE (DAY)

dials only
the

Neff walks across to his desk, lifts the telephone and a number. (During the ensuing telephone conversation, what he says is heard. The pauses indicate speeches at other end of the line).

NEFF

Phyllis? Walter. I've got to see you... Tonight... Yes, it has to be tonight... How's eleven o'clock?
Don't worry about Keyes. He's satisfied... Leave the door on the latch and put the lights out. No, nobody's watching the house... I told you Keyes is satisfied. It's just for the neighbors... That's what I said. Yeah. Eleven o'clock.
Goodbye, baby.

wipes hands.
trying to commentary.

Neff hangs up and stands beside the desk with a grim expression on his face, takes a handkerchief out and perspiration from his forehead and the palms of his
The gesture has a symbolic quality, as if he were wipe away the murder. Over his face comes the

DISSOLVE TO:

NEFF'S VOICE

I guess I don't have to tell you what I was going to do at eleven o'clock, Keyes. For the first time I saw a way to get clear of the whole mess I was in, and of Phyllis, too, all at the same time. Yeah, that's what I thought. But what I didn't know was that she was all set for me. That she had outsmarted me again, just like she always had...

D-19 HALL STAIRWAY OF DIETRICHSON HOME (NIGHT)

The lights are turned on. Phyllis is coming down the stairs. She wears white lounging pajamas, and she is carrying something small and heavy concealed in a scarf in her right hand. She reaches the front door, opens it slightly, fixes the catch so that the door can be opened from outside. She switches off the porch light and the hall light. She moves towards the living room, where there is still light on.

NEFF'S VOICE

She was all set and waiting for me. It could have been something in my voice when I called her up that tipped her off. And it could have been that she had the idea already. And an idea wasn't the only thing she had waiting for me.

D-20 LIVING ROOM

On the long table behind the davenport, one of the lamps is lit. The only other light in the room is a standing lamp beside the desk. A window toward the back is open, and through it comes the SOUNDS OF MUSIC, probably a neighboring radio. Phyllis enters and crosses to the table. She puts out the lamp, then moves over to the desk and puts out the lamp there. The room is filled with bright moonlight coming in at the windows. Phyllis crosses to the chair by the fireplace (the one she sat in the first time Neff came to the house). She lifts the loose cushion and puts what was in the scarf behind it. As something cushion

she withdraws the scarf, there is a brief glint of metallic before she covers the hidden object with the again.

and is coming car

She turns to the low table in front of the davenport takes a cigarette from the box. She takes a match and about to strike it when, just then, she hears a car up the hill. She listens, motionless. The car stops. A door is slammed.

cigarette.
the

Calmly, Phyllis strikes the match and lights her She drops the match casually into a tray, goes back to chair, sits down and waits, quietly smoking. There are footsteps outside the house.

is comes stands

Over the chair in which Phyllis is sitting, the hallway visible through the arch. The front door opens. Neff in, he is silhouetted against the moonlight as he there. He closes the door again.

PHYLLIS

(In foreground)

In here, Walter.

her.
Neff comes through the arch and walks slowly towards

NEFF

Hello, baby. Anybody else in the house?

PHYLLIS

Nobody. Why?

NEFF

What's that music?

PHYLLIS

A radio up the street.

her. Neff sits down on the arm of the davenport, close to

NEFF

Just like the first time I was here. We were talking about automobile insurance. Only you were thinking about murder. And I was thinking about that anklet.

PHYLLIS

And what are you thinking about now?

NEFF

I'm all through thinking. This is goodbye.

PHYLLIS

Goodbye? Where are you going?

NEFF

It's you that's going, baby. Not me. I'm getting off the trolley car right at this corner.

PHYLLIS

Suppose you stop being fancy. Let's have it, whatever it is.

NEFF

I have a friend who's got a funny theory. He says when two people commit a murder they're kind of on a trolley car, and one can't get off without the other. They're stuck with each other. They have to go on riding clear to the end of the line. And the last stop is the cemetery.

PHYLLIS

Maybe he's got something there.

NEFF

You bet he has, Two people are going to ride to the end of the line, all right. Only I'm not going to be one of them. I've got another guy to finish my ride for me.

PHYLLIS

So you've got it all arranged, Walter.

NEFF

You arranged it for me. I didn't have to do a thing.

PHYLLIS

Just who are you talking about?

NEFF

An acquaintance of yours. A Mr. Zachetti. Come on, baby, I just got into this because I knew a little something about insurance, didn't I? I was just a sucker. I'd have been brushed-off as soon as you got your hands on the money.

PHYLLIS

What are you talking about?

NEFF

Save it. I'm telling this. It's been you and that Zachetti guy all along, hasn't it?

PHYLLIS

That's not true.

NEFF

It doesn't make any difference whether it's true or not. The point is Keyes believes Zachetti is the guy he's been looking for. He'll have him in that gas chamber before he knows what happened to him.

PHYLLIS

And what's happening to me all this time?

NEFF

Don't be silly. What do you expect to happen to you? You helped him do the murder, didn't you? That's what Keyes thinks. And what's good enough for Keyes is good enough for me.

PHYLLIS

Maybe it's not good enough for me. Walter. Maybe I don't go for the idea. Maybe I'd rather talk.

NEFF

Sometimes people are where they can't talk. Under six feet of dirt, for instance. And if it was you, they'd just charge it up to Zchetti, wouldn't they. One more item on his account. Sure they would. That's just what they're going to do. Especially since he's coming here, tonight... Oh, in about fifteen minutes from now, baby. With the cops right behind him. It's all taken care of.

PHYLLIS

And that'd make everything lovely for you, wouldn't it?

NEFF

Right. And it's got to be done before that suit of yours comes to trial, and Lola gets a chance to sound off, and they trip you up on the stand, and you start to fold up and drag me down with you.

PHYLLIS

Listen, Walter. Maybe I had Zchetti here so they won't get a chance to trip me up. So we can get that money and be together.

NEFF

That's cute. Say it again.

PHYLLIS

He came here the first time just to ask where Lola was. I made him come back. I was working on him. He's crazy sort of guy, quick-tempered. I kept hammering into him that she was with another man, so he'd get into one of his jealous rages, and then I'd tell him where she was. And you know what he'd have done to her, don't you, Walter.

NEFF

Yeah, and for once I believe you. Because it's just rotten enough.

PHYLLIS

We're both rotten, Walter.

NEFF

Only you're just a little more rotten. You're rotten clear through. You got me to take care of your husband, and then you got Zachetti to take care of Lola, and maybe take care of me too, and then somebody else would have come along to take care of Zachetti for you. That's the way you operate isn't it, baby.

PHYLLIS

Suppose it is, Walter. Is what you've cooked up for tonight any better?

music for Neff gets up from the davenport. He listens to the a moment.

NEFF

I don't like this music anymore. It's too close. Do you mind if I shut the window?

window
his Phyllis just stares at him. He goes quietly over to the and shuts it and draws the curtain. Phyllis speaks to back:

PHYLLIS

(Her voice low and urgent)

Walter!

report
slowly SHOULDER at stops
Neff turns, something changes in his face. There is the of a gun. He stands motionless for a moment, then very starts towards her. CAMERA IS SHOOTING OVER HIS Phyllis as she stands with the gun in her hand. Neff after he has taken a few steps.

NEFF

What's the matter? Why don't you shoot again? Maybe if I came a little closer?

again. Neff takes a few more steps towards her and stops

NEFF

How's that. Do you think you can do it now?

Phyllis is silent. She doesn't shoot. Her expression is tortured. Neff goes on until he is close to her. Quietly he takes the gun out of her unresisting hand.

NEFF

Why didn't you shoot, baby?

Phyllis puts her arms around him in complete surrender.

NEFF

Don't tell me it's because you've been in love with me all this time.

PHYLLIS

No. I never loved you, Walter. Not you, or anybody else. I'm rotten to the heart. I used you, just as you said. That's all you ever meant to me -- until a minute ago. I didn't think anything like that could ever happen to me.

NEFF

I'm sorry, baby. I'm not buying.

PHYLLIS

I'm not asking you to buy. Just hold me close.

Neff draws her close to him. She reaches up to his face and kisses him on the lips. As she comes out of the kiss there is realization in her eyes that this is the final moment.

NEFF

Goodbye, baby.

Out of the shot the gun explodes once, twice. Phyllis quivers in his arms. Her eyes fill with tears. Her head falls limp her to shines slowly coat apparent

the quickly

against his shoulder. Slowly he lifts her and carries the davenport. He lays her down on it carefully, almost tenderly. The moonlight coming in at the French doors on the anklet. He looks at it for the last time and turns away. As he does so, he puts his hand inside his coat and it comes out with blood on it. Only then is it that Phyllis' shot actually did hit him. He looks at blood on his fingers with a dazed expression and goes out of the room, the way he came.

D-21 EXT. DIETRICHSON HOME - (NIGHT)

with steps approaching. He Zachetti.

Neff comes out of the house. He closes the front door with his right hand. His left arm hangs limp. He takes a few steps down the walk, then suddenly hears somebody approaching. He moves behind the palm tree near the walk.

A man comes up the steps towards the front door -- Zachetti. Just as he reaches the door, Neff calls to him.

NEFF

Hey you. Come here a minute. I said come here, Zachetti.

Zachetti turns and approaches him slowly.

NEFF

The name is Neff.

ZACHETTI

Yeah? And I still don't like it. What do you want?

NEFF

Look, kid, I want to give you a present.

out a coin.

He takes some loose change out of his pocket and holds

NEFF

Here's a nice new nickel.

ZACHETTI

What's the gag?

NEFF

Suppose you go back down the hill to a drug store and make a phone call.

handkerchief
Neff starts to drop the nickel into Zachetti's pocket. Zachetti knocks his hand away.

ZACHETTI

Keep your nickel and buy yourself an ice cream cone.

NEFF

The number is Granite 0386. Ask for Miss Dietrichson. The first name is Lola.

ZACHETTI

Lola? She isn't worth a nickel. And if I ever talk to her, it's not going to be over any telephone.

NEFF

Tough, aren't you? Take the nickel. Take it and call her. She wants you to.

ZACHETTI

Yeah? She doesn't want any part of me.

NEFF

I know who told you that, and it's not true. She's in love with you. Always has been. Don't ask me why. I couldn't even guess.

the allows him
Zachetti just stares at him. Neff moves again to put nickel into Zachetti's pocket. This time Zachetti to do it.

NEFF

Now beat it. Granite 0386, I told you.

He motions toward the street below.

NEFF

That way.

pushes him shot.
him.
CAR is heard.

Zachetti goes slowly past him. Neff grabs him and almost violently down the walk. Zachetti goes out of The sound of his steps dies away as Neff looks after Then, far off in the distance, the SIREN OF A POLICE

the house where he parked his car.

Neff moves off through the shrubbery toward the side of

DISSOLVE TO:

D-22 NEFF'S OFFICE - (NIGHT)

the dawn is slowly breaking.

The desk lamp is still lighted. Outside the windows,

There
him. A his holds a note of utter exhaustion.

Neff is still clutching the horn of the dictaphone. are eight or nine used cylinders on the desk beside widening stain of blood shows on the left shoulder of gray jacket. He is very weak by now, and his voice

NEFF

It's almost four-thirty now, Keyes. It's cold. I wonder if she's still lying there alone in that house, or whether they've found her by now. I wonder a lot of things, but they don't matter any more, except I want to ask you to do me a favor. I want you to be the one to tell Lola, kind of gently, before it breaks wide open... Yes, and I'd like you to look after her and that guy Zachetti, so he doesn't get pushed around too much. Because...

feeling Suddenly he stops his dictation with an instinctive that he is not alone in the room.

The As he turns in his chair the CAMERA PULLS BACK slowly.
inside office door is wide open. Keyes is standing a few steps night it. Behind him, on the balcony outside, stands the into the watchman and the colored janitor, peering curiously room over Keyes' shoulder.

Keyes Slowly, and without taking his eyes off Neff's face, reaches back and pushes the door shut.

with a Neff hangs up the dictaphone horn. He looks at Keyes faint, tired grin and speaks very slowly.

NEFF

Hello, Keyes.

Keyes moves towards him a few steps and stands without answering.

NEFF

Up pretty early, aren't you? I always wondered what time you got down to work.

Keyes, staring at him, still does not answer.

NEFF

Or did your little man pull you out of bed?

KEYES

The janitor did. Seems you leaked a little blood on the way in here.

NEFF

Wouldn't be surprised.

standing Neff makes a motion indicating the used cylinders on the desk.

NEFF

I wanted to straighten out that Dietrichson story for you.

KEYES

So I gather.

NEFF

How long have you been standing there?

KEYES

Long enough.

NEFF

Kind of a crazy story with a crazy twist to it. One you didn't quite figure out.

KEYES

You can't figure them all, Walter.

NEFF

That's right. You can't, can you? And now I suppose I get the big speech, the one with all the two-dollar words in it. Let's have it, Keyes.

KEYES

You're all washed up, Walter.

NEFF

Thanks, Keyes. That was short anyway.

intense swaying a

They stare at each other for a long moment, then, with effort Neff gets up on his feet and stands there little. His face is covered with sweat. His shoulder is bleeding. He is on the verge of collapse.

KEYES

Walter, I'm going to call a doctor.

NEFF

(Bitterly)

What for? So they can patch me up? So they can nurse me along till I'm back on my feet? So I can walk under my own power into that gas chamber up in San Quentin? Is that it, Keyes?

KEYES

Something like that, Walter.

NEFF

Well, I've got a different idea. Look here. Suppose you went back to bed and didn't find these cylinders till tomorrow morning, when the office opens. From then on you can play it any way you like. Would you do that much for me, Keyes?

KEYES

Give me one good reason.

NEFF

I need four hours to get where I'm going.

KEYES

You're not going anywhere, Walter.

NEFF

You bet I am. I'm going across the border.

KEYES

You haven't got a chance.

NEFF

Good enough to try for.

KEYES

You'll never make the border.

NEFF

That's what you think. Watch me.

little,
Neff starts to move towards the door, staggering a holding himself upright with great effort.

KEYES

(In a voice of stony calm)

You'll never even make the elevator.

the implacable
Neff has reached the door. He twists the knob and drags door open. He turns in it to look back at Keyes' face.

NEFF

So long, Keyes.

FOLLOWS ELEVATOR that the them of
the dialed.

Neff goes out, leaving the door wide open. THE CAMERA his staggering walk along the BALCONY TOWARDS THE LOBBY. The sound of his breathing is so harsh and loud for a moment it dominates the scene. Finally he reaches swing doors leading into the lobby and starts to push open. At this moment he collapses. He clutches the edge the door and as it swings around with him he falls to floor. He tries to struggle up but cannot rise.
In background comes the sound of a telephone being

KEYES' VOICE

Hello... Send an ambulance to the Pacific Building on Olive Street...
Yeah... It's a police job.

cradle.
balcony beside

There is the sound of the phone being replaced in its Then there are footsteps growing louder along the and Keyes walks slowly into the shot. He kneels down Neff.

KEYES

How you doing, Walter?

Neff manages a faint smile.

NEFF

I'm fine. Only somebody moved the elevator a couple of miles away.

KEYES

They're on the way.

NEFF

(Slowly and with great difficulty)
You know why you didn't figure this one, Keyes? Let me tell you. The guy you were looking for was too close.

He was right across the desk from you.

KEYES

Closer than that, Walter.

The eyes of the two men meet in a moment of silence.

NEFF

I love you too.

pulls it handkerchief
his
is strikes it

Neff fumbles for the handkerchief in Keyes' pocket, out and clumsily wipes his face with it. The drops from his hand. He gets a loose cigarette out of pocket and puts it between his lips. Then with great difficulty he gets out a match, tries to strike it, but too weak. Keyes takes the match out of his hand, for him and lights his cigarette.

FADE

OUT:

THE END

director

The following pages are for an alternate ending that Billy Wilder actually shot but later decided against.

KEYES

They're on the way.

NEFF

(Slowly and with great difficulty)
You know why you didn't figure this one, Keyes? Let me tell you. The guy
you were looking for was too close.
He was right across the desk from you.

KEYES

Closer than that, Walter.

The eyes of the two men meet in a moment of silence.

NEFF

I love you too.

pulls it clutching the for

Neff fumbles for the handkerchief in Keyes' pocket, out and clumsily wipes his face with it. Then, handkerchief against his shoulder, he speaks to Keyes the last time.

NEFF

At the end of that... trolley line... just as I get off... you be there...
to say goodbye... will you, Keyes?

FADE

OUT:

END OF SEQUENCE "D"

SEQUENCE "E"

FADE IN:

E-1 WITNESS ROOM IN DEATH CHAMBER - SAN QUENTIN (DAY)

the CAMERA

Showing the witness room and approximately one-half of gas chamber. BOOM SHOT towards guard standing BACK TO at entrance door. Except for this guard the room is empty.

by a removes the glass platforms

Guard opens the door. Two other guards enter, followed group of witnesses and newspaper men, each of whom his hat as he enters the room. They form a group around outside of the gas chamber, some looking in through the windows, some standing in the background on low against the wall.

CENTERS ON

THE CAMERA SLOWLY BEGINS TO MOVE IN AND DOWN, AND Keyes, as he enters the room and stands behind the door. His then

the the gas

face is seen through the bars of the door, which is closed, and CAMERA MOVES TO A CLOSEUP. His eyes follow action of the closing door, then slowly look towards chamber.

E-2 THE GAS CHAMBER, EMPTY including

On its windows show reflections of the spectators, the face of Keyes.

and two denim moves

The door to the gas chamber opens in the background, beyond that another door opens. Neff comes in between guards. He is wearing a white open-necked shirt, blue pants, and walks barefooted on a cocoanut matting. He

The metal arms,

into the gas chamber, looks through the windows in the direction of Keyes and nods quickly, recognizing him.

guards turn him around and seat him in one of the two chairs, with his back to the witnesses. They strap his legs and body to the chair. The guards go out.

E-3 THE DOOR TO THE GAS CHAMBER

chamber executioner, possibly

It is open. The three guards come out of the gas into the ante-chamber, where stand the warden, two doctors, the minister and the acid man, and several guards.

spins turns steps

The executioner and one guard close the door. The guard spins the big wheel which tightens it. The wheel at first turns very quickly, then, as it tightens, the guard uses considerable force to seal the chamber tight. The guard steps out of the shot. The gas chamber is now sealed.

E-4 THE WITNESSES AND KEYES

They are intently watching Neff in the gas chamber.

E-5 THE ANTE-CHAMBER

everyone one of acid is acid a is turns

The warden looks slowly around the room, sees that is in his proper place and that the stethoscope, which doctor holds, is connected with the outlet in the wall of the gas chamber. Also that the man in charge of the acid is ready. The warden makes a motion to the acid man. The man releases the mixed acid into a pipe connecting with a countersunk receptacle under Neff's chair. (This action is only suggested). The warden looks at the clock, then turns to the executioner and nods.

E-6 THE EXECUTIONER - MED. SHOT - CAMERA SHOOTING DOWN FROM HIGH ANGLE TOWARDS EXECUTIONER

cyanide

He pushes a metal lever. (This immerses the pellets of cyanide in the acid under the chair.)

E-7 INT. GAS CHAMBER - MED. SHOT

shot),
Keyes
and

CAMERA IS SHOOTING ABOVE Neff's head (just out of shot), towards spectators standing outside the gas chamber, in the center. Gas floats up into scene between CAMERA and spectators. Keyes, unable to watch, looks away.

E-8 THE FIRST DOCTOR - CLOSE SHOT

chamber.

as he listens on stethoscope connected with the gas chamber. He glances at the clock above his head.

E-9 THE SECOND DOCTOR - CLOSE SHOT notes on

and

He stands to right of the gas chamber door, taking notes on a pad. He glances towards First Doctor (out of scene) and acid

looks through venetian blinds into the gas chamber. The man stands near him.

E-10 THE FIRST DOCTOR listens on

CAMERA SHOOTING FROM HIGH ANGLE TOWARDS HIM as he stethoscope. The doctor glances at the clock again. He takes his stethoscope from his ears. He nods to the warden, This indicates that the man is dead. CAMERA PANS with warden as he turns to open the door connecting the ante-chamber with the witness room.

takes

This

as

with

DOWN ON

E-11 THE WITNESS ROOM - LONG SHOT FROM HIGH ON BOOM

WITNESSES GROUPED AROUND GAS CHAMBER

guard

The door connecting with the ante-chamber opens. A guard comes through.

GUARD

That's all, gentlemen, Vacate the chamber, please.

entered.

opened pass

chamber to stands,

him leave.

and

The guard withdraws and closes the door by which he entered. The witnesses slowly start to file out. A guard has opened the outer door. The witnesses put their hats on as they pass through. A few go close to the windows of the gas chamber to look in at the dead man before they leave.

All the witnesses have now left, except Keyes, who stands, shocked and tragic, beyond the door. The guard goes to him and touches his arm, indicating to him that he must leave. Keyes glances for the last time towards the gas chamber and slowly moves to go out.

E-12 CORRIDOR OUTSIDE THE DEATH CHAMBER

is dark, overcoat is takes out of
the matches.

CAMERA SHOOTING IN THROUGH THE OPEN DOOR AT KEYES, who just turning to leave. Keyes comes slowly out into the narrow corridor. His hat is on his head now, his pulled around him loosely. He walks like an old man. He eight or ten steps, then mechanically reaches a cigar his vest pocket and puts it in his mouth. His hands, in now familiar gesture, begin to pat his pockets for

He takes the reached a outside.

Suddenly he stops, with a look of horror on his face.
stands rigid, pressing a hand against his heart. He the cigar out of his mouth and goes slowly on towards door, CAMERA PANNING with him. When he has almost the door, the guard stationed there throws it wide, and blaze of sunlight comes in from the prison yard

head

Keyes slowly walks out into the sunshine. stiffly, his bent, a forlorn and lonely man.

OUT:

FADE

THE END